Roasted Chicken Thighs

with "Everything" Potatoes and Buttermilk Ranch

The crispy roasted potatoes for tonight's dinner are seasoned with all the spices of an everything bagel: sesame, poppy seeds, garlic, and onion flakes. For color and texture, we also toss them with spinach, radishes, and scallions. Creamy, homemade buttermilk ranch makes the perfect dipping sauce for both the spuds and roasted chicken thighs.

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. To tell if your chicken thighs are cooked through, rely on temperature, not color. Unlike the white meat in chicken breasts, the dark meat in chicken thighs may be slightly pink in color, even when done. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

Save remaining buttermilk to recreate this dressing—it'd be equally delicious as a dip for fresh veggies.

1. Roast chicken thighs

Preheat oven to 450°F. Line a baking sheet with foil. Pat chicken very dry with paper towel (this will help the skin crisp up in the oven) and place on prepared baking sheet. Season all over with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired, then arrange skin-side up. Roast until skin is crisp and chicken is cooked through, 25–35 minutes (see recipe tip).

2. Roast potatoes

While chicken roasts, rinse all produce. Cut potatoes into ½-inch pieces. On a separate baking sheet, toss potatoes with 1 tablespoon olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Arrange in a single layer, spacing apart as much as possible. Roast (with chicken) until golden and tender, 12–14 minutes.

3. Prepare remaining ingredients

While potatoes roast, roughly chop dill leaves, discarding stems. Trim and discard scallion roots; mince scallion whites and light greens and thinly slice dark greens, keeping separate. Thinly slice radishes into rounds, then stack and thinly slice into matchsticks. Pat spinach dry with paper towel.

4. Make buttermilk ranch

In a medium bowl, whisk together sour cream, onion powder, 2 tablespoons buttermilk (see recipe tip), half of dill, scallion whites and light greens, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired to combine. Set aside for serving.

5. Finish potatoes

Once potatoes are roasted, add everything bagel spice mix to baking sheet and toss to combine. Continue roasting until spices are toasted, 1–2 minutes more. Then, add radishes, spinach, and scallion dark greens to sheet; toss to combine and wilt spinach slightly.

6. Plate chicken

Divide "everything" potatoes between serving plates. Spread buttermilk ranch over plates with potatoes and top with roasted chicken thighs (plating the chicken on top of the ranch helps the skin stay crispy). Garnish with remaining dill. Enjoy!
