Provençal Salmon

with Ratatouille and Parmesan

French ratatouille popped up sometime in the 18th century, from the verb touiller, "to stir up." The vegetables in this stew-like dish can vary depending on the season. To accompany tonight's herb-seared salmon, we add roasted potato to the summertime original—a tomato foundation with zucchini, sweet pepper, and onion. A few glugs of olive oil and Parmesan bring just the right rich-and-salty finish.

Herbes de Provence are dried herbs typical of Provence, the southeastern region of France that also lays claim to ratatouille. This is a super-fragrant mix of lavender, thyme, marjoram, and rosemary.

USDA recommends cooking fish to 145°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 450°F. Rinse all produce. Quarter mini peppers lengthwise, discarding seeds and stems. Cut zucchini into ½-inch dice, discarding ends. Cut potatoes into ½-inch dice. Peel onion, halve, and thinly slice. Mince garlic (see recipe tip).

2. Roast vegetables

Line a baking sheet with aluminum foil. On prepared sheet, toss mini peppers, zucchini, and potatoes with 2 tablespoons olive oil, ½ teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired. Arrange in a single layer and roast, mixing halfway through, until very tender and beginning to brown, 15–18 minutes total.

3. Simmer tomato sauce

While vegetables roast, heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a medium high-sided pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add onion and sauté, stirring frequently, until light brown and softened, about 5 minutes. Add garlic and sauté until fragrant, 1 minute. Add diced tomatoes and their juices. Bring to a boil over high heat, then reduce heat to medium high and simmer until sauce is reduced by half, 5–6 minutes. Remove pan from heat.

4. Sear salmon

While sauce simmers, pat salmon dry with paper towel; season all over with half of herbes de Provence, ½ teaspoon salt, and black pepper (see recipe tip). Heat 2 teaspoons olive oil in a medium pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add salmon skin-side up; sear until golden on bottom, 5 minutes. Flip salmon and cover pan, keeping lid slightly ajar for steam to escape. Continue searing until cooked through and opaque, 3–5 minutes more.

5. Make Parmesan-herb oil

While salmon sears, in a small bowl, whisk together Parmesan, remaining herbes de Provence, and 2 tablespoons olive oil to combine. Set aside until ready to serve.

6. Finish ratatouille and plate

Once tomato sauce has simmered, remove pan from heat, then stir in roasted vegetables to coat. Taste ratatouille and add salt and pepper as desired, then divide between serving plates. Top with Provençal salmon and drizzle over Parmesan-herb oil. Enjoy!
