Chef Grace says, "Winter is the time for citrus!" It's true—in this season, those fruits are at their juiciest and most flavorful. Grace squeezes lime to add punch to bok choy–flecked rice, plus a honey-soy glaze that's spooned over roasted salmon. (There's also jalapeño to take the zing even further, if you're into it.)

Cooking Steps

Cook rice
Preheat oven to 425°F. In a small pot, combine rice, ¾ cup water, and ¼ teaspoon salt, and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir once, reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is fully absorbed, 10-12 minutes. Remove pot from heat and let stand, still covered, for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, rinse all produce.

Prepare ingredients
Halve bok choy lengthwise and rinse thoroughly (it tends to hide a lot of dirt between its leaves); cut crosswise into 1-inch pieces, keeping bulbs and leaves separate. Trim and discard skin of ginger; mince. Trim and discard scallion root; thinly slice, keeping whites and light greens separate from dark greens. Halve lime. Mince garlic. Halve jalapeño lengthwise; using a knife tip, discard seeds and stem, then mince.

Season bok choy
Line a baking sheet with foil. On 1 half of prepared sheet, toss bok choybulbs with half of garlic, 2 teaspoons canola oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, andpepper as desired and arrange in a single layer.

Roast salmon and bok choy
Pat salmon dry with paper towel and place on other half of baking sheet, skin-side down. Season tops of fish with ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired, then drizzle over 2 teaspoons canola oil and rub in seasoning. Roast until bok choy bulbs are tender and salmon is cooked through and opaque, 12-14 minutes.

Make jalapeño-lime glaze
While salmon and bok choy roast, in a separate small pot, stir together soy sauce, honey, ginger, scallion whites and light greens, juice of ½ lime,remaining garlic, and 2 teaspoons canola oil. Bring to a boil over high heat, then reduce heat to medium and simmer, stirring occasionally, until glaze is thickened and sticky, 3-4 minutes. Remove pot from heat. Stir in up to half ofjalapeño.

Plate roasted salmon
Fluff cooked rice with a fork and stir in bok choy leaves to wilt slightly; cover again until ready to serve. Then, stir in juice of remaining lime (or start with a little, taste, and add more as desired). Divide bok choy rice between serving plates. Top with roasted bok choy bulbs, then roasted salmon. Spoon over jalapeño-lime glaze and garnish with scallion dark greens. Dig in!
