Cacio e Pepe Gnocchi

with Asparagus, Peas, and Mint

We're thrilled to bring back this spring version of cacio e pepe as a repeat recipe this week. In Italian, cacio e pepe means "cheese and pepper," and refers to a simple pasta sauce made from cheese, black pepper, and starchy pasta cooking water. Instead of traditional bucatini noodles, we're tossing this sensational sauce with pillow-soft gnocchi, and adding asparagus, peas, and mint for a pop of color and flavor.

Plated.

Ingredients

- 1 pound asparagus
- ⅛ ounce mint
- 2 shallots
- 4 cloves garlic
- ½ cup white wine
- 2 cups peas
- 4 ounces baby spinach
- 2 pounds gnocchi
- 6 packets unsalted butter
- 4 ounces grated Parmesan cheese
- ¾ teaspoon cracked black peppercorns

You'll need

olive oil kosher salt
black pepper
10" large pot
12" large pan
aluminum foil

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

The whole garlic cloves infuse the oil with aromatic flavor during cooking, but won't be pleasant to bite into. We recommend discarding after the vegetables are cooked.

Here, ground black pepper refers to the kind you have at home (feel free to use sparingly, or not at all). We've included cracked pepper, broken into slightly larger pieces, for the sauce.

1. Prepare ingredients

Bring a large pot of water to a boil over high heat. Rinse all produce. Trim and discard woody bottoms of asparagus, then cut crosswise into ½-inch pieces. Pick 3 mint leaves, discarding stems (save remaining mint to flavor a glass of water). Stack mint leaves, thinly slice, and set aside for serving. Peel shallots, halve, and thinly slice.

2. Sauté aromatics

Heat 2 tablespoons olive oil in a large pan over medium heat. When oil is shimmering, add whole garlic cloves and shallots and cook until soft and shallots are translucent, about 3 minutes. Add wine and cook until reduced by half, about 3 minutes more.

3. Cook vegetables

Add asparagus to pan with aromatics, still over medium heat, and cook until softened and bright green, about 5 minutes. Stir in peas, 1 teaspoon salt, and ground black pepper as desired. Stir in spinach to wilt, 1–2 minutes more. Remove pan from heat and remove and discard whole garlic cloves (see recipe tip). Transfer vegetables to a large bowl and cover with foil to keep warm until ready to serve. Wipe pan clean for Step 5.

4. Cook gnocchi

Season pot of boiling water generously with salt. Add gnocchi and cook, gently stirring to keep gnocchi from sticking together, until tender and floating to the surface, 2–3 minutes. Reserve 1¼ cups gnocchi cooking water, then drain and set aside.

5. Make cacio e pepe sauce

Heat butter in pan from vegetables over medium-high heat. When butter is foamy, add cooked gnocchi and stir to coat. Add reserved gnocchi cooking water and bring to a boil. Then, add Parmesan and cracked black pepper, stirring vigorously, until sauce thickens and becomes smooth, about 2 minutes (if your sauce is too thick, stir in 1–2 tablespoons warm water to loosen it). Remove pan from heat.

6. Plate gnocchi

Add asparagus, spinach, and peas to pan with gnocchi and stir to combine. Taste and add salt as desired. Divide cacio e pepe gnocchi among serving dishes and garnish with mint. Dig in!
