Barbecue Chicken

with Basil Zucchini and Corn

Basting is a technique in which sauce is repeatedly spooned or brushed over meat while cooking, ensuring juiciness and a serious amount of flavor. In this Encore favorite, tangy homemade barbecue sauce is slathered over chicken breasts twice during roasting for maximum deliciousness. Colorful roasted corn and zucchini, tossed with fresh basil, complete this summery feast.

  - ½ teaspoon ground coriander
  - ½ teaspoon ground cumin
- ½ cup ketchup
- 2 packets gluten-free soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon sherry vinegar
- 2 tablespoons light brown sugar
- 12 ounces zucchini
- ¼ ounce basil
- 2 ears corn
- 2 boneless skinless chicken breasts

You'll need

canola oil olive oil kosher salt
black pepper
10" medium pan aluminum foil baking sheet

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

When mincing spicy chiles like jalapeño, avoid touching the inside, and immediately wash your knife, cutting board, and hands afterward. Save remaining jalapeño for another use—breakfast tacos, anyone?

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Sauté aromatics

Preheat oven to 425°F. Mince garlic. Rinse jalapeño and halve lengthwise; using a knife tip, discard seeds and stem, then mince up to half (see recipe tip). Heat 1 tablespoon canola oil in a medium pan over medium heat. When oil is shimmering, add minced jalapeño and half of garlic and sauté, stirring, until softened, 2–3 minutes. Add spice mix and sauté, stirring frequently, until fragrant, about 1 minute more.

2. Make barbecue sauce

Add ketchup, soy sauce, sherry vinegar, and brown sugar to pan with aromatics, still over medium heat. Cook, stirring frequently, until sugar is dissolved and flavors have melded, 2–3 minutes. Remove pan from heat. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt and black pepper as desired, then set aside.

3. Prepare vegetables

Rinse zucchini and halve lengthwise, then cut crosswise into ½-inch half-moons. Rinse basil and roughly chop leaves, discarding stems. Shuck corn, discarding husks and silk; slice off kernels, discarding cobs. Try arranging the cobs flat on your cutting board, rather than standing them on their ends, to safely cut 1 side at a time.

4. Season chicken and zucchini

Line a baking sheet with foil. Pat chicken dry with paper towel and place on 1 half of prepared baking sheet. Season all over with ¼ teaspoon salt and black pepper as desired, then brush tops with half of barbecue sauce (save remainder for the next step). On other half of baking sheet, toss zucchini with 1 tablespoon olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired. Arrange in a single layer.

5. Roast chicken and vegetables

Transfer baking sheet to oven and roast until zucchini becomes tender, 8–10 minutes (this is a good time to set the table). Remove from oven. Brush tops of chicken once more with remaining barbecue sauce. Add corn, remaining garlic, and ⅛ teaspoon salt to zucchini, toss to combine, and spread in an even layer. Continue roasting until chicken is cooked through and no longer pink and corn is tender and bright yellow, 6–8 minutes more.

6. Plate barbecue chicken

Use this downtime while you wait for the chicken and vegetables to finish roasting to pour yourself a refreshing beverage. Once chicken is cooked through, sprinkle basil over vegetables on baking sheet, and toss to combine. Serve barbecue chicken with basil zucchini and corn, and dig into your summery meal!
