Tomato-Poached Flounder

with Pesto Couscous

Poaching fish in tomato sauce is a fantastic technique for achieving tons of flavor and rich, moist texture. In this repeat favorite, we give the treatment to delicate flounder, simmering it in our signature garlicky tomato sauce until tender and flaky. On the side, pearls of Israeli couscous are tossed with pesto and toasted almonds for a little crunch.

MEALS WORTH MAKING

Ingredients

- 1 pint grape tomatoes
- ⅛ ounce chives
- 1 lemon
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 tablespoon sliced almonds
- 3 packets unsalted butter
- ¼ cup white wine
- ¾ cup Israeli couscous
- 15 ounces flounder
- 3 tablespoons pesto

You'll need

kosher salt
black pepper
8" medium pot with lid
12" large pan with lid

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

Nuts can burn quickly, so be sure to keep an eye on them as they toast.

How to use the remaining ½ lemon? Squeeze it over plated fish in Step 6 for extra tang, or use it to brighten a glass of water.

Flounder is a delicate fish. If it breaks apart when you transfer it, no worries—it will be smothered with tomato sauce and garnished with chives.

USDA recommends cooking fish to 145°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Bring a medium, covered pot of water to a boil over high heat (this prevents it from evaporating before you're ready to cook the couscous). Rinse all produce. Halve grape tomatoes. Thinly slice chives. Halve lemon. Mince garlic.

2. Toast almonds and sauté garlic

Heat a large pan over medium heat. Carefully hover your hand a few inches from the pan—when you can easily feel heat, add almonds and toast, stirring, until golden and fragrant, about 5 minutes (see recipe tip). Transfer almonds to cutting board and set aside. Return pan to medium heat and add butter. When butter is foamy, add garlic and sauté, stirring, until fragrant, 1–2 minutes.

3. Make tomato sauce

Add tomatoes to pan with garlic, still over medium heat, and sauté, pressing tomatoes to release their juices, until softening, about 5 minutes. Add wine and simmer until slightly reduced, 2–3 minutes more. Taste and add salt and pepper as desired. Remove pan from heat and set aside until Step 5.

4. Cook couscous

While tomato sauce cooks, season boiling water generously with salt. Stir in couscous and cook until tender, about 8 minutes. Drain and return to pot, off heat.

5. Poach flounder

While couscous cooks, pat flounder dry with paper towel; season all over with ¾ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Add flounder to pan with tomatoes, submerging at least halfway in sauce (this will keep it moist and flavorful during cooking). Squeeze juice of ½ lemon over flounder and return pan to medium heat (see recipe tip). Cover pan and poach until flounder is cooked through and opaque, 6–8 minutes.

6. Finish couscous and plate

To pot with couscous, stir in pesto and toasted almonds to combine. Taste and add salt and pepper, then divide pesto couscous among plates. Carefully transfer flounder to plates with couscous, leaving sauce behind in pan (see recipe tip). Place sauce over high heat, bring to a boil, and cook until thickened, 1 minute. Spoon sauce over fish and garnish with chives. Dig in!
