Turkey-Spinach Burgers

with Creamy Aioli and Carrot Fries

Cumin is a nutty, aromatic seed that comes from a plant in the parsley family. The spice can be used whole or ground, and is often a base for chili and curry powders. In this Popular Recipe, it adds subtle smokiness to tender, pan-seared turkey burgers, blended with scallions and spinach for texture and vibrant color. They're paired with crispy, cayenne-roasted carrot fries.

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Incorporate burger ingredients without overmixing for maximum juiciness. They tend to puff up when cooked, but creating a shallow dimple in the center of each patty helps them cook evenly and keep their shape.

Covering the burgers during the second half of cooking traps in steam, another simple trick to help them cook more evenly.

Spread the aioli onto the patties instead of the buns, so the buns stay toasty crisp!

USDA recommends cooking ground turkey to 160°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 450°F. Halve lemon. Rinse remaining produce. Halve carrots lengthwise. Pat spinach dry with paper towel, then finely chop. Trim and discard scallion roots and thinly slice. Mince garlic.

2. Form turkey-spinach burgers

In a medium bowl, combine cumin, spinach, scallions, and half of garlic. Season with 1 teaspoon salt and black pepper as desired, then add turkey. Using your hands, mix well, then form into 4 equal patties, about 1-inch thick. Using your thumb, create a dimple on top of each (see recipe tip).

3. Sear turkey-spinach burgers

Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a large pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add turkey burgers and sear until browned on bottom, 5–6 minutes. Flip burgers, cover pan, and reduce heat to medium (see recipe tip). Sear until cooked through and no longer pink, 5–6 minutes more. Transfer to a plate and set aside to rest.

4. Roast carrot fries

On a baking sheet, toss carrots with cayenne pepper (skip or use half for less heat), 2 tablespoons olive oil, ¾ teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired. Transfer half to a separate baking sheet, arrange in a single layer, and roast until crisp, 14–16 minutes. Divide among serving plates, reserving 1 baking sheet for toasting buns.

5. Make aioli and toast buns

While carrots roast, in a small bowl, whisk together mayonnaise, juice of 1 lemon, and remaining garlic to fully combine. Season with ⅛ teaspoon salt and black pepper as desired and set aside. Wipe reserved baking sheet clean, then add buns cut-side up (if they arrived whole, simply slice them open crosswise!). Bake until toasted and light golden, about 3 minutes.

6. Plate turkey-spinach burgers

Layer bun bottoms with turkey-spinach burgers and dollop about 2 teaspoons aioli onto each burger (see recipe tip). Finish with bun tops. Serve with carrot fries and any remaining aioli alongside for dipping. Dig in because it's burger o'clock.
