

Cheesy Squash Chilaquiles

with Avocado and Lime

Chilaquiles are a traditional Mexican breakfast dish in which homemade tortilla chips are slathered in spicy sauce and finished with sour cream and Cotija cheese. In our lightened-up dinner version, the tortillas are baked until crispy, then topped with garlicky Swiss chard and Monterey Jack cheese. Finished with roasted butternut squash, avocado, and Cotija, this seasonal dish will leave you supremely satisfied.

1. Bake Tortilla Chips

Preheat oven to 425°F. Stack tortillas, cut into 8 wedges, and place on a baking sheet. Toss tortillas with 1½ tablespoons olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Arrange in a single layer, using an additional baking sheet if needed, and bake until golden and crisp, about 10 minutes (see Recipe Tip). Transfer tortilla chips to a plate and set aside.

2. Prepare Ingredients

While tortillas bake, quarter squash pieces. Peel shallot and mince. Roughly chop garlic. Rinse chard and thinly slice crosswise, keeping stems and leaves separate. Halve avocado and discard pit. Using a spoon, carefully scoop out flesh, discarding skin, and cut into small dice. Halve 1 lime and squeeze over avocado, slice remaining lime into wedges for serving.

3. Roast Squash

On baking sheet from tortilla chips, toss squash with 1½ tablespoons olive oil, half of spice mix, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Arrange in a single layer and roast until tender, about 15 minutes. Remove from oven and set aside.

4. Cook Chard

While squash roasts, heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a large ovenproof pan over medium heat. When oil is shimmering, add chard stems, shallot, garlic, and remaining spice mix. Cook until shallot is soft and translucent, about 5 minutes. Add tomato purée and stir to combine. Add chard leaves and cook until leaves are tender, about 2 minutes. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired.

5. Assemble Chilaquiles

Add tortilla chips to pan with sauce and stir to coat off heat. Sprinkle over Monterey Jack and transfer to oven. Bake until cheese is golden and bubbling, about 4 minutes.

6. Plate Chilaquiles

Top chilaquiles with roasted squash. Garnish with sour cream, Cotija cheese, and avocado. Serve with lime wedges alongside (see Recipe Tip). Dig in!
