Chicken Burrito Bowls

with Black Beans, Pico de Gallo, and Lime Crema

Translated from Spanish as “beak of the rooster,” pico de gallo is traditionally made from tomato, onion, cilantro, chiles, and lime juice. Because the red, white, and green colors are reminiscent of the Mexican flag, it's also known as salsa bandera (“flag sauce”). Here, the fresh salsa makes a perfect topping for fluffy quinoa, spiced chicken, and black beans, along with lime crema and avocado.

When chopping spicy jalapeño, avoid touching the inside, and wash your knife, cutting board, and hands afterward.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking ground chicken to 160°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Drain and rinse black beans. Rinse all produce. Cut tomatoes into ½-inch pieces and place in a medium bowl for Step 3. Roughly chop cilantro leaves, discarding stems. Halve limes. Peel onion and cut into small dice. Halve jalapeño lengthwise and, using a knife tip, discard seeds and stem. Finely chop jalapeño (see recipe tip).

2. Cook quinoa

In a small pot, combine quinoa, 2 cups water, and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil over high heat, then reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is absorbed and quinoa is tender, about 15 minutes. Remove pot from heat and set aside, still covered, until ready to serve.

3. Make pico de gallo

While quinoa cooks, to bowl with tomatoes, add chopped jalapeño (feel free to use less for milder flavor), juice of 1½ limes, up to ¼ cup onion (raw red onion has a strong flavor—only use as much as desired), half of cilantro, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Stir to fully combine, then set aside until ready to serve.

4. Sauté black beans

Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a large pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add remaining onion and sauté, stirring, until beginning to soften, 4–5 minutes. Add black beans, juice of 1 lime, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired; cook, stirring, to warm through, 1–2 minutes more. Transfer sautéed black beans to a bowl. Wipe pan clean for the next step.

5. Cook chicken and make crema

Return pan from beans to medium-high heat with 1 tablespoon olive oil. When oil is shimmering, add chicken and season with spice mix, 1 teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Cook, breaking up meat, until browned, about 5 minutes. Meanwhile, in a small bowl, stir together sour cream and juice of remaining limes (or start with a little, taste, and add more as desired) to combine, then taste and add salt and pepper.

6. Plate chicken burrito bowls

Halve avocados and discard pits; carefully scoop out flesh, discarding skins, then thinly slice. Divide quinoa among serving bowls and top with sections of sliced avocado, pico de gallo, sautéed black beans, and chicken. Dollop over lime crema and garnish with remaining cilantro. Dig in!
