Chinese Barbecue Salmon

over Roasted Carrots, Mushrooms, and Snow Peas

For a twist on takeout char siu that doesn't take a minute longer, look no further than this satisfyingly simple recipe (really—it's so easy, we shaved off an entire step). Inspired by the dish's thick, high-sheen glaze, we coat seared salmon fillets with a salty-sweet mix of soy sauce, orange juice, and hoisin. We incorporate all of the crisp, colorful vibes of a stir-fry, but slide the vegetables into the oven instead for a hands-off roast.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 450°F. Wipe mushrooms clean with a damp paper towel and quarter. Rinse remaining produce. Cut carrots crosswise on a diagonal into ¼-inch slices. Halve orange. Trim and discard skin of ginger, then mince. Mince garlic. Line a baking sheet with aluminum foil.

2. Roast vegetables

On prepared baking sheet, toss mushrooms and carrots with 1 tablespoon canola oil (see recipe tip). Arrange in a single layer and roast until beginning to brown, about 10 minutes (move on to Step 3—but don't forget to come back). Then, add snow peas and continue roasting until vegetables are tender, 3–4 minutes more. Once roasted, add half of sesame seeds to sheet with vegetables and toss to coat.

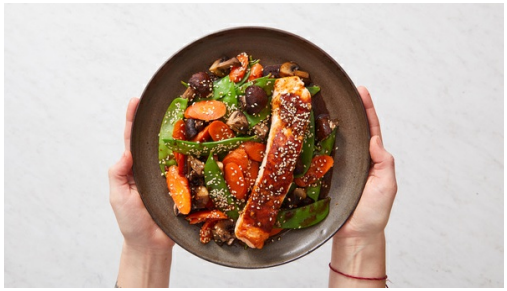

3. Sear salmon

While vegetables roast, pat salmon dry with paper towel. Heat 2 teaspoons canola oil in a medium pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add salmon skin-side up and sear until golden on bottom, 5 minutes. Flip salmon and cover pan, keeping lid slightly ajar for steam to escape. Continue searing until fish is cooked through and opaque, 3–5 minutes more.

4. Make barbecue sauce

While salmon sears, heat 2 teaspoons canola oil in a small pot over medium heat. When oil is shimmering, add ginger and garlic. Cook, stirring, until fragrant, 1–2 minutes. Whisk in soy sauce, hoisin, and juice of ½ orange (see recipe tip). Increase heat to medium high and simmer until thickened slightly, 2–3 minutes more. Remove pot from heat; taste and season with pepper as desired.

5. Plate salmon

Divide roasted vegetables between serving plates, then top with seared salmon. Spoon over Chinese barbecue sauce and garnish with remaining sesame seeds. Enjoy!
