Cumin Beef and Lamb Noodles

with Celery and Szechuan Pepper

Tonight's slurpy bowl of noodles is inspired by the recipes of the Xi'an province of China. These bold, warming flavors are the cure for even the coldest day's chill. Earthy spices like cumin and cinnamon intermingle with spicy Thai chile and tingly Szechaun pepper to make up the sauce that clings to each noodle. Feel free to pull back on the chile if you want to keep things mild, but we crave the touch of heat going on in this dish.

1. Prepare ingredients

Bring a medium pot of water to a boil over high heat. Rinse all produce. Halve celery stalks lengthwise, then thinly slice crosswise. Trim and discard scallion roots and thinly slice on a diagonal, keeping whites and light greens separate from dark greens. Thinly slice garlic. Trim and discard skin of ginger; mince (see recipe tip). Halve Thai chile lengthwise; using a knife tip, discard seeds and stem; thinly slice crosswise (see recipe tip).

2. Cook rice noodles

Add rice noodles to pot of boiling water and immediately remove from heat. Gently stir to separate noodles and keep from sticking. Set aside to soak until tender, about 9 minutes. Then, drain noodles and immediately rinse under cold water for 30 seconds to stop cooking. Set aside for Step 4.

3. Sauté aromatics

While noodles cook, heat 1 tablespoon canola oil in a medium high-sided pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add scallion whites and light greens and sauté, stirring, until softened, 1–2 minutes. Add cumin, Szechuan pepper, garlic, ginger, Thai chile (use half for less heat), and half of cinnamon (discard remainder); sauté, stirring frequently, until fragrant, about 1 minute more. Meanwhile, pat beef and lamb dry with paper towel.

4. Make beef and lamb sauce

To pan with aromatics, still over medium-high heat, add beef and lamb. Cook, breaking up meat, until browned, about 5 minutes. Add brown sugar, black vinegar, soy sauce, and 2 tablespoons water; cook, stirring, until liquid is slightly reduced and flavors have melded, 2–3 minutes more. Remove pan from heat. Add celery and rice noodles and stir to combine. Season with ½ teaspoon salt and black pepper as desired.

5. Plate cumin beef and lamb noodles

Divide cumin beef and lamb noodles between serving bowls. Spoon over any remaining sauce from the pan. Garnish with scallion dark greens. Enjoy!
