Chicken Marsala

with Roasted Fingerling Potatoes

Chicken Marsala is so named because it's made with rich, smoky, fortified wine from the Italian city of Marsala in Sicily. While dry Marsala wines are typically drunk at the start of a meal, and sweet variations are sipped for dessert, either can be used to make the creamy mushroom pan sauce in this recipe. It's paired with crispy fingerling potatoes roasted in mustard and rosemary.

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

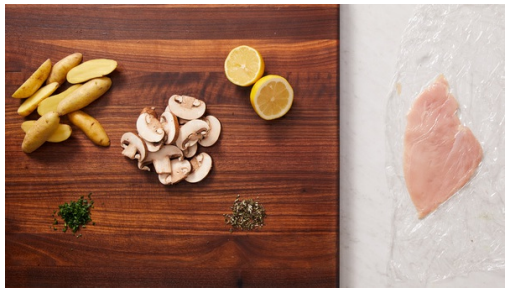

To achieve a golden sear on your chicken, be sure it's very dry—removing excess moisture with a paper towel will help the flour stick to it in a thin layer, creating an evenly browned crust in the pan.

Save remaining cream for your morning coffee.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 425°F. Wipe mushrooms clean with a damp paper towel and cut into ¼-inch slices. Rinse remaining produce. Halve potatoes lengthwise. Finely chop parsley leaves, discarding stems. Strip rosemary leaves, discarding stems, then mince. Halve lemon. Pat chicken dry with paper towel (see recipe tip). Place between 2 large pieces of plastic wrap. Using a meat mallet or heavy pan, pound to ¼-inch thickness.

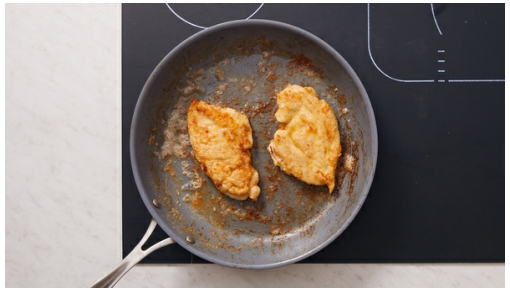

2. Sauté mushrooms

Heat butter in a large nonstick pan over medium-high heat. When butter is foamy, add mushrooms. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Sauté, stirring, until mushrooms are tender and beginning to crisp, about 8 minutes. Transfer mushrooms to a bowl and set aside for Step 5. Wipe pan clean and reserve, off heat, for Step 4.

3. Roast potatoes

While mushrooms sauté, on a baking sheet, toss potatoes with mustard, rosemary, 1½ tablespoons olive oil, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired to combine. Arrange potatoes cut-side down in a single layer (the contact with the hot baking sheet helps ensure the potatoes turn crisp) and roast until golden and tender, 18–20 minutes.

4. Cook chicken

While potatoes roast, place flour on a large plate. Season chicken all over with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Dredge chicken in flour, shaking off excess. Return pan from mushrooms to medium-high heat with 1 tablespoon olive oil. When oil is shimmering, add chicken and sear until cooked through and no longer pink, 3–4 minutes per side. Transfer to a plate and set aside to rest.

5. Finish chicken Marsala

Return mushrooms to pan and increase heat to high. Stir in Marsala wine and chicken stock and bring to a boil. Cook, stirring occasionally, until liquid is reduced by half, 5–6 minutes. Reduce heat to medium high. Add 2 tablespoons heavy cream, juice of 1 lemon, and half of parsley; cook, stirring, to thicken, 1 minute (see recipe tip). Return chicken to pan with sauce to warm through, 3–4 minutes more.

6. Plate chicken Marsala

Plate chicken, spooning over Marsala sauce from pan. Serve with roasted fingerling potatoes and garnish with remaining parsley. Dig in!
