Chicken Saag

with Almond Basmati Rice

Creamy, aromatic Indian saag is a leaf-based dish (usually spinach) that can be made with a variety of proteins. In tonight's version, we stir roasted and shredded chicken into the classic blend of spinach, cream, tomato paste, ginger, garlic, and garam masala. For a twist, there's also jalapeño, which you can tailor to suit your spice preference. It's all served over basmati rice laced with nutty brown butter and toasted almonds.

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Always wash your knife, board, and hands after cutting spicy chiles.

If all of the raw spinach doesn't fit in the pan at once, no worries! As it cooks down, spinach loses volume. Work in batches as needed, adding 1 handful at a time as the leaves shrink.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Cook rice

Preheat oven to 425°F. In a small pot, combine rice, 1½ cups water, and ½ teaspoon salt and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir once, reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is fully absorbed, 10–12 minutes. Remove pot from heat and let stand, still covered, for 10 minutes.

2. Prepare ingredients

While rice cooks, rinse all produce. Roughly chop almonds, or leave in bag and gently crush with the bottom of a heavy pan. Pat spinach dry with paper towel and finely chop. Peel onions and finely chop. Trim and discard skin of ginger and mince. Mince garlic. Halve jalapeño lengthwise; using a knife tip, discard seeds and stem, then mince (see recipe tip). Line a baking sheet with foil. Pat chicken dry with paper towel.

3. Roast chicken and toast almonds

Place chicken on prepared sheet and rub all over with 1 tablespoon olive oil, 1 teaspoon salt, and pepper. Roast until cooked through and no longer pink, 12–15 minutes; set aside to rest. Meanwhile, heat butter and almonds in a large pan over medium-high heat. Swirl pan occasionally until butter turns golden and fragrant and almonds are toasted, 4–5 minutes. Remove pan from heat.

4. Finish rice and sauté aromatics

Fluff rice with a fork, then stir in brown butter and almonds to combine, reserving pan. Cover pot again to keep warm until ready to serve. Return pan from brown butter to medium-high heat with 1 tablespoon olive oil. When oil is shimmering, add onions, ginger, garlic, and jalapeño (feel free to use less for milder flavor); sauté, stirring, until softened, 4–5 minutes.

5. Simmer saag

To pan with aromatics, still over medium-high heat, add garam masala and tomato paste. Cook, stirring, until fragrant, 1 minute. Add spinach (see recipe tip) and 1½ cups water; stir until wilted. Bring to a boil over high heat, then reduce heat to medium-high; simmer, stirring occasionally, until liquid is reduced by half and flavors have melded, 5–6 minutes more. Remove pan from heat; season with 1¼ teaspoons salt and pepper.

6. Plate chicken saag

While saag simmers, shred rested chicken using 2 forks or roughly chop. Add heavy cream and shredded chicken to pan with saag, still off heat, and stir to combine. Divide almond basmati rice among shallow serving bowls and top with chicken saag. Enjoy!
