Chicken Piccata

with Roasted Fingerling Potatoes and Green Beans

Italian piccata typically features veal cutlets pounded thin, dredged in flour, and seared until crispy, then drizzled with a pan sauce of white wine, butter, and parsley. This repeat favorite recipe applies the same technique to chicken breasts, with lemon and capers lending more brightness to the classic silky sauce.

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

If all of the chicken doesn't fit in the pan at once, cook in batches, adding oil in between as needed.

Deglazing is a technique in which adding liquid, like wine and lemon juice, to the pan after cooking protein helps loosen any browned bits stuck to the bottom. Scrape them up into your sauce—they are full of flavor.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 425°F. Rinse all produce. Halve potatoes lengthwise and place on a baking sheet. Trim and discard ends of green beans (try lining up the ends to trim them all at once). Roughly chop parsley leaves, discarding stems. Halve lemon. Pat chicken dry with paper towel and place between 2 large pieces plastic wrap. Using a meat mallet or heavy pan, pound to ¼-inch thickness.

2. Roast potatoes

Toss potatoes on baking sheet with 1½ tablespoons olive oil, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Arrange cut-side down in a single layer, spacing apart as much as possible, and roast until browned and crispy, 20–22 minutes. (Keeping the cut sides of the potatoes in direct contact with the hot baking sheet ensures they turn a crisp golden brown.)

3. Sauté green beans

While potatoes roast, heat 1½ tablespoons olive oil in a large pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add green beans and season with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Sauté, stirring, until bright green and tender, 5–7 minutes. Then, transfer green beans to serving plates. Wipe pan clean and reserve off heat for the next step.

4. Cook chicken

Place flour on a large plate and season with 1 teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Season chicken all over with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper. Dredge chicken in flour, shaking off excess. Return pan from green beans to medium-high heat with 2 packets butter and 1 tablespoon olive oil. When butter is foamy, add chicken (see recipe tip). Sear until crust is golden and chicken is cooked through and no longer pink, 2–4 minutes per side.

5. Make piccata sauce

Transfer chicken to a plate, leaving any juices in pan to make sauce. Return pan to medium-high heat with capers, white wine, parsley, and juice of 1 lemon. Cook, scraping up browned bits from bottom of pan, until liquid is reduced by half, 5–6 minutes (see recipe tip). Remove pan from heat and stir in remaining butter to melt. Return chicken to pan and turn to coat. Then, taste piccata sauce and add salt and pepper as desired.

6. Plate chicken piccata

Divide roasted potatoes among plates with sautéed green beans. Add chicken, spooning over piccata sauce from pan. Dig in!
