Roasted Flounder

with Broccoli, Potatoes, and Beurre Blanc

Beurre blanc is a classic French sauce that's all about the butter: It's whisked into a reduction of white wine and vinegar so that the fat and acid emulsify into one velvety, beautifully balanced sauce. Here we spoon it over roasted flounder, broccoli, and fingerling potatoes, then top with tart-sweet currants and toasted pine nuts. This simple yet elegant dinner is bound to impress. Bon appétit!

- 2 tablespoons currants

You'll need

olive oil kosher salt
black pepper
baking sheet
10" medium pan

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

We provide flounder based on total weight, so you may have more than one fillet per person. Be sure to roast all the fish at once.

Use the remaining cream to enrich mashed potatoes or a pasta sauce, or stir into your morning coffee.

Gradually adding the butter to the aromatics helps to emulsify the sauce. Be sure to serve right away so the sauce is pourable and doesn't separate.

USDA recommends cooking fish to 145°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 450°F. Rinse all produce. Halve potatoes lengthwise. Cut broccoli into 1 inch–wide florets, if needed. Roughly chop parsley leaves, discarding stems. Cut butter into ½-inch pieces, place on a plate, and refrigerate until Step 5. Using the flat side of a knife, gently crush garlic clove. Peel shallot, halve, and thinly slice.

2. Roast potatoes

On a baking sheet, toss potatoes with 1 tablespoon olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Arrange cut-side down in a single layer, spacing apart, and roast until almost tender, about 15 minutes.

3. Sauté aromatics

While potatoes roast, place pine nuts in a medium pan over medium heat. Toast, stirring, until golden and fragrant, 3–5 minutes. Transfer pine nuts to a small bowl and set aside until ready to serve. Return pan to medium heat with 2 teaspoons olive oil. When oil is shimmering, add crushed garlic and shallot. Cook, stirring frequently, until softened and fragrant, 3–4 minutes. Remove pan from heat and set aside until Step 5.

4. Roast broccoli and flounder

Push roasted potatoes to ¼ of baking sheet. Add broccoli to opposite ¼ of sheet and toss with 2 teaspoons olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Pat flounder dry with paper towel. Add to remaining half of sheet and rub all over with ½ tablespoon olive oil, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired (see recipe tip). Roast until broccoli and potatoes are tender and flounder is cooked through, 10–11 minutes.

5. Make beurre blanc

Place pan with aromatics over medium-high heat. Add white wine and vinegar to pan and cook until almost all liquid has evaporated, 1–2 minutes. Add ¼ cup cream, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired and cook, stirring, until slightly reduced, 1 minute more (see recipe tip). Reduce heat to low. Whisking constantly, add butter, 1 piece at a time, until incorporated (see recipe tip). Remove pan from heat and remove and discard garlic clove.

6. Plate roasted flounder

Divide roasted potatoes and broccoli between serving plates, then top with roasted flounder. Spoon over beurre blanc and garnish with currants, parsley, and toasted pine nuts. Dig in!
