Chef Liz riffs on our creamy coconut curry with this flavorful salmon version. Salmon fillets are rubbed with cumin and turmeric, then roasted alongside cauliflower and carrots until the fish is tender and the vegetables are golden. The vegetables are stirred into a coconut milk and vindaloo curry that's served over fragrant, ginger-infused rice, while the salmon is flaked over top for elegant presentation.

Cooking Steps

Cook ginger rice
Preheat oven to 425ºF. Trim and discard skin of ginger, then halve. In a small pot, combine rice, ginger pieces, ¾ cup water, and ¼ teaspoon salt, and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir once, reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is fully absorbed, 10-12 minutes. Remove pot from heat and let stand, still covered, for 10 minutes. Fluff rice with a fork, then cover again to keep warm.

Prepare cauliflower and carrots
While rice cooks, rinse all produce. Cut cauliflowerinto 1 inch–wide florets, if needed. Halve carrotslengthwise, then cut crosswise on a diagonal into ¼-inch slices (this increases surface area, and creates a nice presentation). Line a baking sheet with foil, then add cauliflower and carrots and toss with 1 tablespoon olive oil, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Arrange in a single layer on 1 half of prepared baking sheet.

Roast salmon and vegetables
Pat salmon dry with paper towel. On other half of prepared baking sheet, arrange salmon skin-side down. Season tops of fish with spice mix, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired, then drizzle over 1 teaspoon olive oil and rub in seasoning. Roast until salmon is cooked through and opaque, and vegetables are tender and lightly golden, 12-14 minutes.

Sauté aromatics
While salmon and vegetables roast, pick cilantroleaves; roughly chop stems, keeping separate. Peel onion, halve, and thinly slice. Using the flat side of a knife, gently crush garlic cloves. In a large high-sided pan, heat 2 teaspoons olive oil over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add onion, crushedgarlic, and cilantro stems; sauté, stirring, until softened, 5 minutes. Add curry paste, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper; sauté until fragrant, 2 minutes more.

Finish coconut curry
Open coconut milk and add to pan with aromatics, still over medium-high heat. Stir to combine, then bring to a simmer and cook until liquid is slightly reduced, 3-4 minutes. Stir in roasted cauliflower and carrots and cook until flavors have melded, 1 minute more. Remove pan from heat. Season with ½ teaspoon saltand pepper as desired.

Plate salmon coconut curry
Remove and discard ginger pieces from pot with rice, then add spinach and stir to combine. Divide ginger rice between serving bowls. Remove and discard crushed garlic from pan with curry, then spoon coconut curry over rice. Remove and discard skin from salmon; using a fork, flake into large pieces over serving bowls. Garnish with cilantro leaves and dig in!
