

Salmon Teriyaki

with Avocado and Carrot-Ginger Dressing

Grapeseed oil is made from pressed grapes. Its light flavor makes it especially suited to salad dressings like this umami-rich one. There's nothing quite as beautiful and tasty as perfectly glazed salmon paired with a crisp well-dressed salad.

If you whisk the ingredients by hand, the dressing will be more textural but still delicious!

1. Marinate Salmon

Preheat oven to 450°F. In a large shallow bowl or resealable plastic bag, combine teriyaki sauce and hoisin sauce to make marinade. Rinse salmon, pat dry with paper towel, and add to marinade, turning to coat. Set aside to marinate at room temperature for about 10 minutes.

2. Prepare Ingredients

While salmon marinates, trim and discard skin of ginger and mince. Rinse lettuce and tear into bite-size pieces. Peel shallot and mince ½; save remainder for another recipe as desired. If not using a blender or food processor for dressing, finely chop carrots.

3. Make Dressing

In a blender or food processor, blend or pulse miso paste, rice wine vinegar, sesame oil, grapeseed oil, ginger, shallot, carrots, and 2 tablespoons water until smooth. Season with ⅛ teaspoon kosher salt and pepper as desired. Alternatively, whisk together ingredients in a large bowl until carrots are combined (see Recipe Tip).

4. Roast Salmon

Remove salmon from marinade, allowing excess to drip off. Place on a foil-lined baking sheet, transfer to oven, and roast until sticky on outside and medium rare, 7-8 minutes.

5. Toss Salad

While salmon roasts, halve avocado and discard pit. Using a spoon, carefully scoop out flesh, discarding skin. Thinly slice and add to bowl with dressing. Add lettuce and toss to coat. Taste and add more salt and pepper as needed.

6. Plate Salmon

Serve roasted salmon with a heap of salad alongside. Enjoy!
