Sage Chicken Milanese

with Brussels Sprouts, Butternut Squash, and Balsamic Reduction

Milanese is one of our favorite ways to enjoy chicken—pounded thin, the meat becomes extra tender, and the breadcrumb topping adds a rich, crispy crust. For an autumnal touch, we're frying sage leaves in the pan alongside the chicken, then spooning the resulting sage butter over the chicken for an aromatic touch. Best enjoyed with our Test Kitchen–approved wine pairing: elegant, fruit-forward New Zealand Pinot Noir.

- 10" medium nonstick pan
- 6" small pot

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Looking for the perfect wine pairing? Our Test Kitchen recommends a Pinot Noir from New Zealand, where a cool climate produces elegant wines with high acidity—a great match for the rich flavors of this crispy, butter-basted chicken. Meanwhile, notes of plum and ripe cherry are an excellent complement to the tangy balsamic.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 425°F. Cut butternut squash cubes to ¼-inch pieces, if needed. Pick sage leaves, discarding stems. Mince garlic. In a medium bowl, whisk 1 egg. In a separate medium bowl, stir together plain breadcrumbs, panko breadcrumbs, half of grated Parmesan, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper (we're using 2 different types of breadcrumbs here for ultimate crispy-crunchy texture).

2. Roast vegetables

On a baking sheet, toss squash with 2 teaspoons olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper. Arrange in a single layer. Roast until lightly browned, about 10 minutes (move on to Step 3—but don't forget to come back!). Then, add Brussels sprouts and garlic to sheet; gently stir to combine. Continue roasting until Brussels sprouts are lightly browned and garlic is fragrant, 3–4 minutes more. Sprinkle over remaining grated Parmesan; set aside.

3. Pound and dredge chicken

While vegetables roast, pat chicken dry with paper towel and place between 2 large pieces plastic wrap. Using a meat mallet or heavy pan, pound to ¼-inch thickness. Season chicken all over with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Dip chicken in egg, allowing excess to drip off. Dredge in Parmesan breadcrumbs, pressing to adhere.

4. Cook chicken Milanese

Heat butter and 1 tablespoon olive oil in a medium nonstick pan over medium-high heat. When butter is foamy, add chicken, then scatter sage leaves around in pan. Cook until breadcrumbs are browned, 2–4 minutes. Flip chicken, top with fried sage, and continue cooking, spooning over melted butter, until chicken is cooked through and no longer pink, 2–4 minutes more. Transfer sage chicken Milanese to a paper towel–lined plate.

5. Make balsamic reduction

While chicken cooks, in a small pot, heat balsamic vinegar over medium-high heat. Cook, stirring occasionally, until vinegar is thick, syrupy, and reduced by half, 3–4 minutes. Remove pot from heat.

6. Plate chicken Milanese

Divide roasted Brussels sprouts and butternut squash between serving plates. Drizzle over balsamic reduction. Top with sage chicken Milanese and garnish with shaved Parmesan and fried sage. Open up a bottle of something special (see recipe tip), and enjoy!
