

SERVING PLAN 4 SERVING PLAN

Garlic-Thyme Chicken

with Buttermilk Mashed Potatoes and Crispy Kale

Tonight, we're spotlighting garlic in two different preparations. First, we infuse olive oil with crushed garlic and minced thyme and use it to baste pan-roasted chicken breasts. Then, we turn the resulting seared garlic into a smooth paste for seasoning creamy, buttermilk-laced mashed potatoes. On the side, crispy kale provides satisfying textural contrast.

25–35 minutes 600 calories per serving

Plated.
MEALS WORTH MAKING

Ingredients

- 1¼ pounds red-skinned potatoes
- ⅛ ounce thyme
- 4 cloves garlic
- 4 boneless chicken breasts
- 8 ounces curly kale
- 3 packets unsalted butter
- 2 containers buttermilk

You'll need

olive oil kosher salt
black pepper
8" medium pot with lid
12" large pan
baking sheet
potato masher (optional)

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Cooking with a sous chef? Have them strip the thyme leaves in Step 2, tear and toss the kale leaves in Step 4, and mash the potatoes in Step 5.

While they cook, potatoes release starches into the boiling water. Adding some reserved potato cooking water to the mashed potatoes will make them extra creamy.

If all the chicken doesn't fit in the pan at once, work in 2 batches, adding half the garlic-thyme oil to each batch.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

Questions? Email help@plated.com or call 855-525-2399. Visit plated.me/allergens for more information on dietary restrictions.

1906-6531-4P

1. Boil potatoes

Preheat oven to 450°F (see recipe tip). Rinse all produce. Quarter potatoes, place in a medium pot, and cover with cold water by 1 inch. Season generously with salt and bring to a boil over high heat. Cook until tender when pierced with a knife tip, 9–10 minutes (move on to Step 2—but don't forget to come back). Reserve ½ cup potato cooking water (see recipe tip); drain and return to pot, off heat. Cover to keep warm until Step 5.

2. Make garlic-thyme oil

While potatoes boil, strip thyme leaves, discarding stems, then mince. Using the flat side of a knife, gently crush garlic cloves. In a small bowl, stir together thyme, garlic, and 1½ tablespoons olive oil; set aside for the next step. Pat chicken very dry with paper towel (this will help the skin crisp up in the pan); season all over with 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a large pan over medium-high heat.

3. Cook chicken

When oil in pan is shimmering, add chicken skin-side down (see recipe tip). Sear until skin is golden and easily lifts from pan, 6 minutes. Flip chicken, pour over garlic-thyme oil, and continue cooking, repeatedly spooning garlic-thyme oil over chicken, until cooked through and no longer pink, 6 minutes more. Remove pan from heat. Transfer chicken and garlic to cutting board and set aside to rest—don't worry if some thyme is left behind in the pan.

4. Roast kale

While chicken cooks, pat kale dry with paper towel and tear leaves into bite-size pieces, discarding long stems. On a baking sheet, toss kale with 1½ tablespoons olive oil to coat. Arrange in a single layer; roast until kale is crisp and lightly browned, 5–10 minutes.

5. Mash potatoes

While kale roasts, using a large knife, scrape over garlic on cutting board at a 45° angle, pressing down. Repeat until garlic is broken down and a paste forms. To pot with potatoes, add butter, buttermilk, garlic paste, and reserved potato cooking water. Using a large fork or potato masher, mash until smooth. Season with ¾ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired.

6. Plate chicken

Once kale is crisp, toss on baking sheet with ½ teaspoon salt (sprinkling over the salt after roasting helps ensure crispy texture). Cut rested chicken into ¼-inch slices. Divide buttermilk mashed potatoes, garlic-thyme chicken, and crispy kale among serving plates. Dig in!

Join the Plated community and post your #platedpics!

SERVING PLAN 4 SERVING PLAN