Korean Barbecue Chicken Pizza

with Corn, Kimchi, and Gochujang

This mashup combines some of our favorite elements of Korean barbecue—juicy meat, cheesy corn, and spicy-sweet gochujang—on a pizza. We season chicken breasts with a bulgogi spice mix of brown sugar, sesame seeds, soy sauce, miso powder, and garlic, then pan-roast and shred for tender texture. It's scattered over a crust with sweet corn, mozzarella, and scallion, then drizzled with an addictive gochujang-tomato sauce.

MEALS WORTH MAKING

Ingredients

- 12 ounces pizza dough
- 2 boneless skinless chicken breasts
- 1 teaspoon bulgogi spice mix
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 ear corn
- 1 scallion
- ¼ cup kimchi
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- ½ ounce honey
- 1 teaspoon gochujang
- 2 ounces shredded mozzarella cheese
- 1 tablespoon toasted sesame seeds
- 1 parchment paper

You'll need

olive oil kosher salt
black pepper 10" medium pan
baking sheet
rolling pin (optional)

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

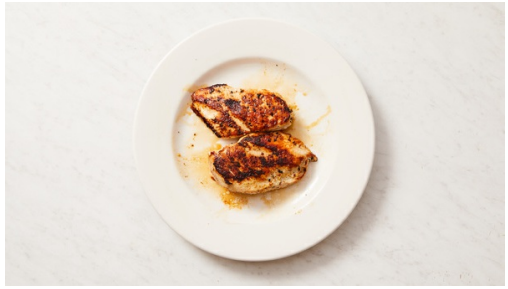

Pizza dough softens as it warms—the longer you let it sit at room temperature, the easier it'll be to roll out. We suggest at least 15 minutes.

Need a trick for removing corn kernels from the cob? Lay the cob flat on your cutting board and carefully slice kernels off 1 side. Rotate cob and continue slicing to remove kernels on all sides.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Cook chicken

Preheat oven to 450°F. Remove pizza dough from bag and let soften at room temperature (see recipe tip). Pat chicken dry with paper towel; season all over with bulgogi spice mix, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper. Heat 2 teaspoons olive oil in a medium pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add chicken; sear until cooked through and no longer pink, about 6 minutes per side. Transfer to a plate; set aside to rest.

2. Roll out dough

While chicken cooks, line a baking sheet with parchment paper and rub with 1 teaspoon olive oil. Sprinkle flour onto a clean, dry surface, coating a rolling pin or your hands with a thin layer. Roll or stretch dough into a rectangular shape, rotating frequently and working from center to edges, until ¼-inch thick (you can also try lifting the dough with your hands, letting gravity help stretch it down).

3. Par-bake crust

Add dough to prepared sheet, gently stretching to reach edges of sheet, and rub 2 teaspoons olive oil on top. Bake until crust is lightly browned and beginning to crisp, 9–11 minutes.

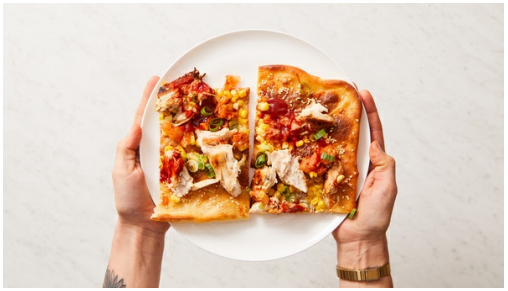

4. Prepare ingredients

While crust bakes, rinse all produce. Shuck corn, discarding husks and silk; slice off kernels, discarding cob (see recipe tip). Trim and discard scallion root and thinly slice, keeping whites and light greens separate from dark greens. Roughly chop kimchi. In a small bowl, whisk together tomato paste, honey, gochujang, (it's spicy, so feel free to use less), 3 tablespoons water, and ⅛ teaspoon salt to combine.

5. Assemble and bake pizza

Once crust is beginning to crisp, sprinkle over mozzarella, corn, and scallion whites and light greens, leaving a ½-inch border. Brush border of crust with olive oil (if you don't have a basting brush, feel free to lightly drizzle instead) and sprinkle over half of sesame seeds. Return to oven; bake until cheese is melted and light golden, 5–8 minutes.

6. Plate Korean barbecue pizza

While pizza bakes, shred rested chicken using 2 forks or roughly chop. Use any remaining downtime to set the table. Then, scatter chicken over pizza and drizzle over gochujang sauce. Garnish with kimchi (it's spicy, so feel free to use less), scallion dark greens, and remaining sesame seeds. Cut into slices and enjoy!
