Lamb Bolognese

over Zucchini Pappardelle with Feta

Let tonight's comforting twist on classic Bolognese help guide your kitchen transition into the heartier dishes of fall. A sauce of tomato, onion, garlic, and Italian herbs gets the traditional splash of cream, then is tossed with a mix of beef and lamb, plus buttery green olives for salty tang. Rather than twirl traditional pasta 'round your fork, tuck into fresh zucchini noodles, shaved wide and flat like pappardelle.

MEALS WORTH MAKING

Ingredients

- 12 ounces zucchini
- ¼ cup Castelvetrano olives
- 1 yellow onion
- 1 clove garlic
- 10 ounces ground beef and lamb
- 2 teaspoons Italian dried herb mix
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 14 ounces tomato purée
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon crushed red pepper
- 2 ounces heavy cream
- 2 ounces crumbled feta cheese

You'll need

olive oil kosher salt
black pepper
vegetable peeler
10" medium pan with lid

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Using a slotted spoon will drain off any excess fat from the meat so it stays in the pan, not in your Bolognese.

Pouring the fat down the drain may damage your pipes—instead, pour it into a heatproof container once it's cooled slightly, and dispose in the garbage.

USDA recommends cooking ground beef and lamb to 160°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Rinse zucchini and halve lengthwise through stems, then arrange cut-side down. Using a vegetable peeler, peel zucchini lengthwise into wide ribbons—try holding the stem end firmly, and slowly peeling away from yourself. Flip zucchini halfway through, yielding as many wide ribbons as you can until you reach the thin center (pre-dinner snack, anyone?). Roughly chop olives. Peel onion, halve, and thinly slice. Mince garlic.

2. Brown beef and lamb

Pat beef and lamb dry with paper towel. Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a medium pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add beef and lamb and cook, breaking up, until meat is browned, about 5 minutes. Season with ½ teaspoon salt and black pepper, then remove pan from heat. Using a slotted spoon, transfer beef and lamb to a bowl, reserving pan for the next step (see recipe tip).

3. Sauté aromatics

Discard almost all excess fat from pan from meat, leaving behind a thin layer (see recipe tip). Place pan over medium heat. When fat is shimmering, add onion and sauté, stirring occasionally, until soft, about 7 minutes. Stir in Italian dried herb mix and garlic and cook until fragrant, 1–2 minutes. Stir in tomato paste to fully coat, 1–2 minutes more.

4. Simmer Bolognese sauce

Return beef and lamb to pan with aromatics. Add tomato purée, sugar, and crushed red pepper (skip or use half for less heat). Increase heat under pan to high and bring to a boil, then reduce heat to medium and simmer until sauce is thickened, 2–3 minutes. Then, stir in olives and half of heavy cream to combine (use the remaining cream in another recipe).

5. Cook zucchini pappardelle

Add zucchini pappardelle to pan with sauce, still over medium heat. Stir to submerge in sauce, then cover pan and cook, stirring occasionally and replacing lid, until zucchini has softened, 6–8 minutes. Then, remove pan from heat, taste, and add salt and black pepper as desired.

6. Plate Lamb bolognese

Divide zucchini pappardelle and lamb Bolognese between serving bowls. Top with feta and dig in!
