Thai Chicken Larb

with Soy-Lime Sauce, Sriracha, and Peanuts

Popular throughout Laos and Thailand, larb is a spicy minced meat salad typically served with lettuce for scooping. This version spotlights ground chicken seasoned with ginger, shallot, chiles, soy, and lime. Jasmine rice also gets an infusion of citrus flavor with Thai lime leaves, which are added to the pot after the rice is cooked to gently steam and add tons of fragrance.

MEALS WORTH MAKING

Ingredients

- 1 cup jasmine rice
- 2 Thai lime leaves
- 2 limes
- 3 tablespoons roasted salted peanuts
- ¼ ounce ginger
- 2 shallots
- 2 Thai chiles
- 1½ tablespoons cornstarch
- 4 packets gluten-free soy sauce
- 1½ pounds ground chicken
- 2 heads Boston lettuce
- 3 packets Sriracha

You'll need

canola oil kosher salt
6" small pot with lid
12" large pan

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Crumpling the Thai lime leaves releases their fragrant oils so your rice will absorb tons of aromatic flavor as it steams.

Always wash your knife, board, and hands after cutting spicy chiles.

The Thai lime leaves seasoned the rice as they steamed, but won't be pleasant to bite into—we recommend discarding them before serving.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking ground chicken to 165°F.

1. Cook rice

Rinse all produce. In a small pot, combine rice, 1½ cups water, and ½ teaspoon salt, and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir once, reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is fully absorbed, 10–12 minutes (move on to Step 2—but don't forget to come back). Then, remove pot from heat. Using your hand, crumple Thai lime leaves (see recipe tip); add to pot with rice. Cover pot again; let stand, 10 minutes.

2. Prepare ingredients

While rice cooks, halve 1 lime; cut remaining lime into wedges for serving. Roughly chop peanuts, or leave in bag and gently crush with the bottom of a heavy pan. Trim and discard skin of ginger and mince. Peel shallots, halve, and thinly slice. Halve Thai chiles lengthwise; using a knife tip, discard seeds and stems, then thinly slice crosswise (see recipe tip).

3. Make soy-lime sauce

In a medium bowl, whisk together cornstarch, soy sauce, juice of remaining lime, and 1 cup water (whisking cornstarch into liquid before heating helps your sauce thicken quickly, and prevents lumps). Set soy-lime sauce aside for the next step.

4. Cook chicken larb

Heat 1 tablespoon canola oil in a large pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add ginger, shallots, and Thai chiles (feel free to use less for milder heat); sauté, stirring, until fragrant, 1–2 minutes. Add chicken and cook, breaking up, until browned, about 5 minutes. Add soy-lime sauce; cook until thickened and combined, 2–3 minutes more. Remove pan from heat; set aside.

5. Prepare lettuce wraps

While chicken larb cooks, pat lettuce dry with paper towel and separate large leaves for wraps (you'll need at least 3 per person, but if you have extra, double up your wraps). Transfer lettuce wraps to serving plates.

6. Plate Thai chicken larb

Remove and discard Thai lime leaves from pot with rice (see recipe tip), then fluff rice with a fork. Fill lettuce wraps with rice, then chicken larb. Garnish with Sriracha (skip or use half for less heat) and peanuts. Serve with lime wedges for squeezing over. Dig in!
