Recipe Tips

Cold dough is easier to work with since it'll be less sticky.

Lining your baking sheet with foil makes for easy cleanup in case any sugar spills over.

1. Prepare Ingredients

Preheat oven to 375°F. Roughly chop walnuts. Cut dough into 12 pieces, about 1-inch in size. Roll into balls (see Recipe Tip).

2. Make Glaze

Combine butter and brown sugar in a small pot over medium heat. Cook, stirring, until sugar is dissolved, about 3 minutes. Set aside.

3. Assemble Monkey Bread

Sprinkle ½ of walnuts into the bottom of each tin, reshaping if bent. Add ½ of dough balls, dividing evenly. Sprinkle over ½ of sugar mix, then pour over ½ of glaze. Repeat with remaining walnuts, remaining dough balls, remaining sugar mix, and remaining glaze.

4. Bake Monkey Bread

Place monkey bread tins on a foil-lined baking sheet, transfer to oven, and bake until golden brown, 20-25 minutes.

5. Plate Monkey Bread

Remove monkey bread from oven and set aside to cool for about 5 minutes. Invert onto plates or cut away tins, rip into your breads, and enjoy!
