Steak and Kimchi Quesadillas

with Gochujang Crema

We're putting a new spin on steak quesadillas. This Korean-inspired recipe infuses seared steak with garlic, scallion, sesame, and soy, then layers flour tortillas with the saucy steak, kimchi, and mozzarella. For an easy, hands-free approach, they're baked until crisp and melty—leaving you extra time to set the table. To drive home the Korean flavors, we're drizzling a gochujang crema over top.

MEALS WORTH MAKING

Ingredients

- 2 steaks
- 2 scallions
- ½ cup kimchi
- 1 clove garlic
- 2 ounces sour cream
- 1 teaspoon gochujang
- 2 packets gluten-free soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon dark brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon sesame seeds
- 4 flour tortillas
- 4 ounces shredded mozzarella cheese

You'll need

canola oil kosher salt
black pepper
10" medium pan
baking sheet

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Cornstarch helps thicken the sauce as it simmers. Whisk it with the remaining sauce ingredients before adding to the pan in Step 4 to prevent any lumps.

Cutting meat against the grain ensures tenderness. Find the direction of the grain (muscle fibers) and slice across it, rather than parallel.

Adding the steak between layers of cheese helps bind the filling to the tortillas so the quesadillas hold together.

USDA recommends cooking beef to 145°F.

1. Sear steaks

Preheat oven to 450°F. Pat steaks dry with paper towel and season all over with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Heat ½ tablespoon canola oil in a medium pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add steaks and sear until browned and medium rare, 4–6 minutes per side. Transfer steaks to a plate and set aside to rest. Reserve pan, off heat, for Step 4.

2. Prepare ingredients

While steaks sear, rinse all produce. Trim and discard scallion roots and thinly slice, keeping whites and light greens separate from dark greens. Roughly chop kimchi. Mince garlic.

3. Make crema and sauce

In a small bowl, stir together sour cream and gochujang (it's not very spicy, but feel free to use less if you prefer a milder flavor). Working 1 tablespoon at a time, gradually add up to 2 tablespoons water until crema is pourable. Set aside until ready to serve. In a medium bowl, whisk together soy sauce, cornstarch, brown sugar, half of sesame seeds, and ¼ cup water until smooth (see recipe tip).

4. Sauté aromatics and slice steak

Return pan from steaks to medium-high heat with 2 teaspoons canola oil. When oil is shimmering, add garlic and scallion whites and light greens; sauté, stirring frequently, until fragrant, about 1 minute. Stir in soy-sesame sauce and simmer until thick, 1 minute more. Remove pan from heat. Once rested, cut steaks against the grain into ⅛-inch slices (see recipe tip). Add sliced steak to pan with sauce, and toss to coat.

5. Assemble and bake quesadillas

Rub a baking sheet with 2 teaspoons canola oil and add 2 tortillas side by side in a single layer. Layer with half of mozzarella, kimchi, and steak. Top with remaining mozzarella, then remaining tortillas (see recipe tip). Brush tops of quesadillas with 1 teaspoon canola oil each, then bake until golden and crisp, 5–7 minutes.

6. Plate quesadillas

Using a thin spatula, carefully loosen steak and kimchi quesadillas from baking sheet and transfer to cutting board. Quarter quesadillas and divide between serving plates. Drizzle over gochujang crema. Garnish with scallion dark greens and remaining sesame seeds. Enjoy!
