Spicy Crunchy Shrimp Bowls

with Sushi Rice and Pickled Radish

We've drawn inspiration from the “spicy crunchy tuna rolls” on American sushi bar menus for this Popular Recipe, which combines seared shrimp, Sriracha mayo, and crispy panko breadcrumbs for crunch. It’s served over seasoned sushi rice with seaweed salad in place of typical toasted sheets of nori. Quick-pickled radishes and a creamy wasabi aioli add even more color, texture, and brightness to the bowls.

Plated.

Ingredients

- ¾ cup jasmine rice
- ¼ cup panko breadcrumbs
- 2 teaspoons sesame seeds, divided
- 3 ounces red radishes
- 2 scallions, divided
- 2 tablespoons sushi vinegar, divided
- 10 ounces shrimp
- 2 packets Sriracha
- 2 ounces mayonnaise, divided
- 1 packet wasabi paste
- 1 packet soy sauce
- ⅓ cup seaweed salad

You'll need

canola oil kosher salt
black pepper
6" small pot with lid
12" large nonstick pan

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Toasting breadcrumbs requires a watchful eye and frequent stirring. It also takes a little patience: The panko needs to toast long enough to take on a deep golden color so that it forms a crispy coating for the shrimp. Same goes for the sesame seeds: The golden color ensures a deliciously rich nuttiness.

Wasabi has a pungent heat that can be strong. Start with a little, then add more depending on your preferences.

USDA recommends cooking shellfish to 145°F.

1. Cook rice

In a small pot, combine rice, 1¼ cups water, and ¼ teaspoon salt, and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir once, reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is fully absorbed, 10–12 minutes. Remove pot from heat and let stand, still covered, for 10 minutes. Fluff rice with a fork, then cover again to keep warm until Step 3.

2. Toast breadcrumbs and seeds

While rice cooks, heat a large nonstick pan over medium heat. Carefully hover your hand a few inches away from the pan—when you can easily feel heat, add breadcrumbs. Toast, stirring frequently to prevent burning, until golden, 6–7 minutes (see recipe tip). Transfer to a plate and set aside. Add sesame seeds to pan over medium heat. Toast, stirring, until golden, 2 minutes. Transfer to a small bowl. Reserve pan for Step 4.

3. Pickle radishes and season rice

Rinse all produce. Thinly slice radishes and place in a medium bowl. Trim and discard scallion roots and thinly slice, keeping whites and light greens separate from dark greens. Add scallion whites and light greens and 1 tablespoon sushi vinegar to bowl with radishes, and toss to combine. To pot with rice, add half of toasted sesame seeds and remaining sushi vinegar, and stir to combine. Cover again and set aside.

4. Sear shrimp

Pat shrimp dry with paper towel and season with ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Place pan from sesame seeds over medium-high heat and add 2 teaspoons canola oil. When oil is shimmering, add shrimp and cook, stirring occasionally, until opaque and just pink, 4–6 minutes total. Using a slotted spoon, transfer shrimp to a cutting board and set aside to cool slightly.

5. Finish shrimp and make aioli

In a separate medium bowl, stir together Sriracha and half of mayonnaise (Sriracha is what really flavors the shrimp here, but feel free to use less for milder heat). Roughly chop seared shrimp, add to bowl, and toss to coat. Stir in toasted breadcrumbs, being careful not to overmix (so they stay crunchy!). In a separate small bowl, stir together wasabi (see recipe tip), soy sauce, and remaining mayonnaise.

6. Plate shrimp bowls

Drain radishes, discarding liquid. Divide sushi rice between serving bowls and top with sections of seaweed salad, pickled radishes, and spicy crunchy shrimp. Garnish with scallion dark greens and remaining toasted sesame seeds. Drizzle over a little wasabi-soy aioli (you can always add more, if you like the heat). Dig in!
