Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

Kitchen time-saver: Stack picked basil leaves, roll the stack up, then cut the roll crosswise into thin slices. From there, it's easy to finely chop the basil all at once.

Burrata is a very delicate cheese, so try to handle gently. Since it is filled with a soft cream, discard only the watery liquid from the container and not any cheese solids.

USDA recommends cooking pork sausage to 160°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 450°F. Rinse all produce. Finely chop basil, discarding stems. Roughly chop mini peppers, discarding seeds and stem. Peel onion, halve, and thinly slice. Mince garlic.

2. Roast gnocchi

Using your hands, gently separate gnocchi, then place in a large bowl. Add mini peppers, onion, 2 tablespoons olive oil, ¾ teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired, and toss to coat. Transfer to a baking sheet, arranging in a single layer; reserve bowl for Step 5. Roast until peppers and onions are tender and gnocchi is crisp and beginning to brown, 18–20 minutes.

3. Cook sausage

While gnocchi roast, heat 1½ tablespoons olive oil in a large high-sided pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add sausage and garlic and cook, breaking up meat, until browned, 7–8 minutes.

4. Make sausage ragù

To pan with sausage, still over medium-high heat, add marinara sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired. Cook, stirring occasionally, until sauce is thickened, 6–8 minutes. Remove pan from heat, stir in half of basil, and set aside.

5. Season burrata

Remove burrata from container, discarding excess liquid (see recipe tip). Tear burrata into bite-size pieces and place in bowl from gnocchi. Toss with remaining basil, 2 teaspoons olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired.

6. Plate gnocchi

Divide roasted gnocchi, peppers, and onions among serving plates. Spoon over spicy sausage ragù, then top with basil burrata. Mangia!
