Pork Nasi Goreng

with Spicy Cucumber and Lime

Nasi goreng is a Southeast Asian specialty made with rice, garlic, chiles, and soy sauce. The aromatic dish also often includes an egg mixed in or fried as a topping. Here, we're tossing pork into the mix of crispy rice, veggies, and sauce, plus an optional egg scrambled in at the end. On top, there's cucumber mixed with sambal oelek, a spicy chile paste.

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

To avoid damaging your pipes, pour the fat into a heatproof container or bottle once it's cooled slightly, and dispose in the garbage.

Though the egg is a traditional component of nasi goreng, if you aren't a fan of eggs, feel free to skip this part—your meal will still be delicious.

USDA recommends cooking ground pork to 160°F.

1. Cook rice

In a small pot, combine rice, ¾ cup water, and ¼ teaspoon salt, and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir once, reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is fully absorbed, 10–12 minutes. Remove pot from heat and let stand, still covered, for 10 minutes. Fluff rice with a fork, then set aside uncovered to release steam, making it easier to fry in Step 5.

2. Cook pork

While rice cooks, heat 2 teaspoons canola oil in a large nonstick pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add pork and season with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Cook, breaking up meat, until cooked through and no longer pink, about 5 minutes. Using a slotted spoon, transfer pork to a large bowl and set aside. Discard excess fat (see recipe tip); wipe pan clean and reserve, off heat, for Step 4.

3. Prepare ingredients

While pork cooks, rinse all produce. Halve cucumber lengthwise, then cut crosswise into ¼-inch half-moons. Halve lime and set aside 1 half for Step 5; cut remainder into wedges for serving. Roughly chop cilantro leaves, discarding stems. Trim and discard scallion roots and thinly slice, keeping whites and light greens separate from dark greens. Mince garlic. Crack 1 egg into a small bowl, if using (see recipe tip).

4. Sauté vegetables

Return pan from pork to medium-high heat with 2 teaspoons canola oil. When oil is shimmering, add slaw mix, corn, garlic, and scallion whites and light greens. Sauté, stirring, until fragrant and beginning to caramelize, 3–5 minutes. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt; remove pan from heat. Transfer vegetables to bowl with pork. Wipe pan clean for the next step.

5. Finish nasi goreng

Return pan from vegetables to medium-high heat with 2 tablespoons canola oil. When oil is shimmering, add rice and press down into a single layer. Cook, without moving, until golden on bottom, 3–4 minutes. Add soy sauce, honey, and pork and sautéed vegetables; stir to combine. Cook, stirring, to coat, 2 minutes. Add egg (if using) and scramble, stirring constantly, until cooked through, 1–2 minutes more. Remove pan from heat; stir in juice of ½ lime.

6. Plate pork nasi goreng

Taste nasi goreng and add salt and pepper. In a medium bowl, stir together cucumber and sambal (it's spicy, so feel free to add less—use a pair of kitchen scissors to cut packets open together). Transfer pork nasi goreng to serving plates; top with spicy cucumber, cilantro, and scallion dark greens. Serve with lime wedges for squeezing over. Dig in!
