Herbed Salmon Caesar

with Kale, Brussels Sprouts, and Parmesan Frico

Frico are Italian crisps made by spreading shredded or grated cheese on a baking sheet—after a quick turn in the oven, you get lacy wafers perfect for breaking into crunchy, salty bites. Here, Parmesan frico become the "croutons" for a hearty kale Caesar, complete with herb-rubbed salmon and juicy grape tomatoes that roast alongside.

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

Use remaining lemon and Dijon for another use, like a simple salad dressing.

Carefully lift the fragile frico off the parchment, but if it shatters a bit, don't worry! It's broken into crouton-like bites for the salad anyway.

USDA recommends cooking fish to 145°F.

1. Prepare salmon and tomatoes

Preheat oven to 425°F. Rinse all produce. Line 2 baking sheets with foil. Pat salmon dry with paper towel; place on 1 half of 1 prepared sheet, skin-side down. Season tops of fish with Italian dried herb blend, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired; drizzle over 1 tablespoon olive oil and rub in seasoning. On other half of sheet with salmon, toss whole grape tomatoes with ½ tablespoon olive oil to coat.

2. Roast salmon and vegetables

On other prepared sheet, toss Brussels sprouts with 1 tablespoon olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired, then arrange in a single layer. Transfer baking sheets to oven and roast together until salmon is cooked through and opaque, tomatoes are soft, and Brussels sprouts are golden, 12–14 minutes.

3. Make garlic paste

While salmon and vegetables roast, mince garlic and, still on cutting board, sprinkle over ⅛ teaspoon salt (this will help break down the garlic and extract its natural juices). Using a large knife, carefully scrape over mixture at a 45° angle, pressing down. Repeat until garlic is broken down and a paste forms.

4. Make Caesar dressing

Halve lemon. Tear or chop kale leaves into bite-size pieces, discarding long stems. Reserve 2 tablespoons Parmesan in a small bowl for making frico in the next step. In a large bowl, whisk together mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce, garlic paste, ½ packet Dijon, juice of ½ lemon (or start with a little, taste, and add more as desired), remaining Parmesan, 1 tablespoon olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper to combine (see recipe tip).

5. Bake Parmesan frico

Add kale and roasted Brussels sprouts to bowl with dressing. Discard foil from baking sheet and re-line with parchment paper, then spread reserved 2 tablespoons Parmesan in an even circle, about ⅛-inch thick. Bake until golden and crisp, 3–5 minutes. Set aside to cool. Then, remove frico from parchment and break into 1-inch pieces (see recipe tip).

6. Plate salmon Caesar

Toss salad with Caesar dressing, then divide between serving bowls. Top salad with herbed salmon (remove and discard skin, if desired) and roasted tomatoes, then garnish with Parmesan frico. Enjoy!
