Smoky Salmon Salad

with Everything Spice Croutons and Caper-Dijon Vinaigrette

This is a bagel and lox, Plated salad–style. To mimic the smoky cured salmon, the fish is roasted with a hickory barbecue–inspired blend of spices. It's paired with goat cheese, instead of cream cheese, and puff pastry croutons seasoned with all the spices of an everything bagel. They're served atop a peppery arugula salad with the requisite tomato, red onion, and capers.

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

To recreate the flavors of an everything bagel, the spice mix on the croutons includes all the classics: sesame seeds, poppy seeds, and flakes of garlic and onion, which turn brown and fragrant in the oven. If the spices reach your preferred level of toasting before the salmon's ready, feel free to pull the croutons out 2–3 minutes earlier.

USDA recommends cooking fish to 145°F.

1. Season salmon

Preheat oven to 425°F. Set puff pastry aside to soften at room temperature. Line 1 baking sheet with parchment paper and set aside for next step. Line a separate baking sheet with aluminum foil. Pat salmon dry with paper towel and place skin-side down on foil-lined sheet. Season tops of fish with hickory barbecue spice mix, then drizzle over 1 tablespoon olive oil and rub in spices (no need to add salt here—it's in the hickory mix).

2. Bake croutons and salmon

Cut puff pastry into 9 equal squares (cut in thirds in both directions). Transfer squares to parchment-lined sheet, spacing apart as much as possible. Lightly brush tops with olive oil, then sprinkle with everything bagel spice mix. Transfer croutons and salmon to oven together; bake until salmon is opaque and cooked through, and croutons are puffed and golden brown, 10–12 minutes (see recipe tip).

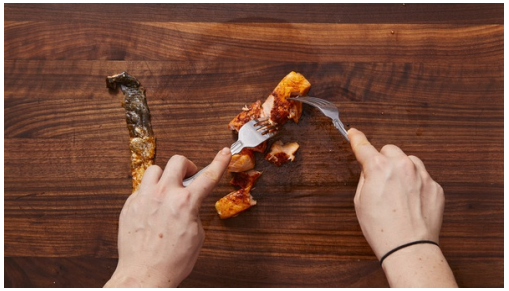

3. Prepare ingredients

While salmon and croutons bake, rinse all produce. Quarter grape tomatoes. Pat arugula dry with paper towel. Peel onion, halve, and thinly slice 1 half (save remainder for another recipe). Place sliced onion in a small bowl with enough cold water to cover, then set aside until ready to serve (soaking raw red onion in water helps take some of the bite out of its strong flavor).

4. Make caper-Dijon vinaigrette

In a large bowl (big enough for the salad), whisk together white wine vinegar, half of Dijon mustard (discard remainder), 2 tablespoons olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired to fully combine. Drain off and discard any excess liquid from capers, add to bowl with vinaigrette, and toss to coat.

5. Flake salmon

Once cool enough to handle, transfer salmon to cutting board. Remove and discard skin; then, using 2 forks, flake salmon into large pieces.

6. Plate smoky salmon salad

Drain onion, discarding liquid, then pat dry with paper towel (to keep excess moisture out of your salad) and add to bowl with vinaigrette. Crumble goat cheese on top. Add tomatoes and arugula; toss to coat. Divide salad between serving plates and top with smoky salmon. Garnish with everything spice croutons and enjoy!
