Peruvian-Style Grilled Chicken

with Avocado Salad and Ají Verde

Ají (like "ah-HEE") is the term used for chile peppers throughout South America, particularly in Peru, where a bright-green sauce called salsa de ají verde brings tangy heat to any number of meat dishes. Here, it's drizzled over spice-marinated chicken, which gets its smoky grill marks right alongside avocado halves. A simple salad tossed in lime vinaigrette confirms it: This season, we're going verde.

Ingredients

- 1 avocado
- 2 cloves garlic, divided
- 2 limes, divided
- 1 red bell pepper
- ¼ ounce cilantro
- 1 jalapeño
- 1 spice mix
  - ½ teaspoon ground cumin
  - ¼ teaspoon dried oregano
  - ½ teaspoon smoked paprika
- 1 packet honey, divided
- 2 boneless skinless chicken breasts
- 1 tablespoon Champagne vinegar
- 3 ounces baby arugula
- 2 ounces mayonnaise

You'll need

olive oil kosher salt
black pepper
grill or grill pan
large resealable plastic bag (optional) blender or food processor (optional) aluminum foil

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

No outdoor grill? Preheat a grill pan in Step 5. Or, use a medium nonstick pan over medium heat. Sear the chicken in 1 tablespoon olive oil, 6 minutes per side. Skip cooking the avocado.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat grill to medium heat (see recipe tip). Halve avocado and discard pit. Mince garlic. Halve limes. Rinse remaining produce. Halve bell pepper lengthwise, discarding seeds and stem, then cut lengthwise into ¼-inch strips. Pick cilantro leaves, discarding stems. Halve jalapeño lengthwise; using a knife tip, discard seeds and stem, then roughly chop up to half. (Be sure to wash your knife, board, and hands afterward.)

2. Marinate chicken

In a large shallow bowl or resealable plastic bag, whisk together spice mix, ½ packet honey (save remainder for making dressing), juice of ½ lime, half of garlic, 1 tablespoon olive oil, ½ teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired to combine. Pat chicken dry with paper towel, add to marinade, and turn to coat. Set aside to marinate at room temperature until ready to grill.

3. Make ají verde

While chicken marinates, in a blender or food processor, combine mayonnaise, cilantro, juice of 1 lime, chopped jalapeño (or use less for milder heat), remaining garlic, ¼ teaspoon salt, and black pepper, then blend until smooth. Stream in 1-2 tablespoons olive oil until sauce is pourable. Alternatively, finely chop cilantro and jalapeño, place in a medium bowl, and whisk in remaining sauce ingredients to combine.

4. Make dressing

In a large bowl (big enough for the salad), whisk together Champagne vinegar, juice of remaining lime, remaining honey, ¼ teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired. Whisking continuously, slowly add 2 tablespoons olive oil until fully combined. Pat arugula dry and add to bowl with dressing, along with bell pepper—but wait to toss until ready to serve, so the salad doesn't turn soggy.

5. Grill chicken and avocado

If using a grill pan, place it over medium heat now. Remove chicken from marinade, allowing excess to drip off. When grill is just smoking, add chicken and cook until lightly charred, cooked through, and no longer pink, 4 minutes per side. Transfer chicken to a plate and cover loosely with foil to keep warm. Meanwhile, grill avocado halves, cut-side down, until lightly charred, 2–3 minutes.

6. Plate Peruvian-style chicken

Using a spoon, carefully scoop out avocado flesh, discarding skin. Cut chicken into ¼-inch pieces. Toss salad to fully coat with dressing, then divide between serving plates. Top with grilled avocado, grilled chicken, and a drizzle of ají verde. Dig in! Save any remaining jalapeño to spice up a breakfast scramble.
