Chicken Katsu

with Hoisin Sauce, Cilantro Rice, and Crunchy Slaw

Japanese chicken katsu is one of our favorite forms of fried chicken, combining thinly pounded meat, crispy crust, and thick, tangy sauce. In tonight's version, the chicken is dredged in egg, flour, and panko breadcrumbs, then shallow-fried until golden. Hoisin, soy, and apple cider vinegar form the umami-packed sauce, while a crunchy slaw of carrots, cabbage, and scallions provides refreshing contrast.

- 6" small pot with lid
- plastic wrap
- meat mallet (optional)
- 12" large nonstick pan

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

Rub a little water on your work surface, under the bottom piece of plastic wrap, to keep it from shifting while you pound the chicken.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Cook rice

In a small pot, combine rice, ¾ cup water, and ¼ teaspoon salt, and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir once, reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is fully absorbed, 10–12 minutes. Remove pot from heat and let stand, still covered, for 10 minutes.

2. Pound out chicken

While rice cooks, place flour on a large plate and stir in Chinese 5-spice powder and ¼ teaspoon salt to combine. In a large shallow bowl, whisk 1 egg. Place breadcrumbs on a separate large plate. Pat chicken dry with paper towel and place between 2 large pieces plastic wrap (see recipe tip). Using a meat mallet or heavy pan, pound to ¼-inch thickness.

3. Dredge chicken

Season chicken all over with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Dredge chicken in spiced flour, shaking off excess. Dip in egg, allowing excess to drip off. Dredge in breadcrumbs, pressing to adhere.

4. Fry chicken

Heat 1½ tablespoons olive oil in a large nonstick pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add chicken and fry until crust is browned and chicken is cooked through and no longer pink, 2–4 minutes per side. Transfer chicken to a paper towel–lined plate to drain.

5. Make slaw and hoisin sauce

While chicken cooks, rinse all produce. Finely chop cilantro leaves and stems. Trim and discard scallion root; thinly slice crosswise on a diagonal. In a medium bowl, stir together sesame oil, half of apple cider vinegar, 1½ tablespoons olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper. Add slaw mix and scallion and toss to combine. In a small bowl, stir together hoisin, soy sauce, and remaining apple cider vinegar to combine.

6. Plate chicken katsu

Fluff rice with a fork, then stir in half of cilantro to combine. Divide cilantro rice between serving plates. Top with chicken katsu, then crunchy slaw. Drizzle over hoisin sauce and garnish with remaining cilantro. Dig in!
