Chicken Curry Puffs

with Cucumbers, Carrots, and Spicy Dipping Sauce

In this dinner version of a popular Southeast Asian street food, flaky puff pastry meets creamy mashed potatoes and curry-spiced chicken. We pair with ribbons of carrot and cucumber for crunch. A flavorful dipping sauce of brown sugar, soy, rice wine vinegar, and cilantro can be customized to your desired spice level—just add your preferred amount of Thai chile.

- baking sheet

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

No vegetable peeler? Quarter cucumber and carrots lengthwise, then thinly slice crosswise. Thin slices pickle quickly.

Always wash your knife, board, and hands after cutting spicy chiles.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking ground chicken to 165°F.

1. Mash potatoes

Preheat oven to 400°F. Rinse all produce. Peel potatoes and cut into ½-inch cubes, then place in a medium pot and cover with cold water by 1 inch. Season generously with salt and bring to a boil over high heat. Cook until tender when pierced with a knife tip, about 8 minutes (move on to Step 2, but don't forget to come back!). Drain potatoes and return to pot, off heat. Using a fork or potato masher, mash potatoes until mostly smooth.

2. Prepare ingredients

While potatoes boil, pick cilantro leaves and finely chop stems, keeping separate. Quarter cucumber and carrots lengthwise, then arrange cut-side down. Using a vegetable peeler, peel cucumber and carrots lengthwise into wide ribbons—try holding the end firmly and slowly peeling away from yourself, yielding as many wide ribbons as you can until you reach the thin center (see recipe tip). Mince garlic.

3. Make sauce and prepare pastry

Halve Thai chile lengthwise; using a knife tip, discard seeds and stem, then mince (see recipe tip). In a medium bowl, whisk together rice wine vinegar, soy sauce, brown sugar, cilantro stems, and half of Thai chile (it's spicy—feel free to use less); set aside. Arrange puff pastry squares on a clean, dry surface. Using your hands, gently stretch or press puff pastry squares into slightly larger squares, about 6 x 6 inches each.

4. Make chicken filling

Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a medium pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add chicken, garlic, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Cook, breaking up, until browned, about 5 minutes. Remove pan from heat; stir in curry powder, mashed potatoes, and remaining Thai chile to combine. Set aside to cool slightly, 5 minutes. Line a baking sheet with foil for the next step.

5. Assemble and bake curry puffs

Add chicken filling to centers of puff pastry squares, leaving a 1-inch border. Gently fold 1 corner of each puff pastry square over filling to form a triangle, then gently press and crimp edges with your fingers to seal. Transfer to prepared baking sheet. Cut a small slit on top of curry puffs so steam can escape, then brush with olive oil (if you don't have a pastry brush, you can use a spoon). Bake chicken curry puffs until puffed and golden, 18–22 minutes.

6. Plate chicken curry puffs

While curry puffs bake, add vegetable ribbons and half of cilantro leaves to bowl with sauce; toss to combine. Once baked, transfer chicken curry puffs to serving plates. Using a slotted spoon to leave sauce behind, transfer vegetables to plates; transfer sauce to small bowls for dipping. Garnish with remaining cilantro. Dig in!
