Recipe Tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Wasabi is spicy, so use only as much as desired.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. If the pan feels hot when you hover your hand above it, you can start frying the chicken katsu!

USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Prepare Ingredients

Using the flat side of a knife, smash garlic. Rinse remaining produce. Cut bok choy and Chinese broccoli crosswise into 1-inch pieces, keeping leaves and stems separate. Rinse chicken and pat dry with paper towel. Place between 2 pieces plastic wrap and using a meat mallet or small heavy pan, pound to ¼-inch thickness.

2. Sauté Stems

Heat sesame oil in a large nonstick pan over medium heat. When oil is shimmering, add garlic, bok choy stems, and Chinese broccoli stems and sauté, stirring, until bright green and just tender, about 6 minutes. Meanwhile, whisk together mayonnaise and as much wasabi as desired in a small bowl to make wasabi aioli (see Recipe Tip). Taste and add salt and pepper as needed.

3. Sauté Leaves

Add soy sauce, spinach, bok choy leaves, and Chinese broccoli leaves to pan with stems over medium heat. Sauté, stirring, until bright green and wilted, about 4 minutes. Taste and add salt and pepper as needed. Transfer to a plate. Remove and discard garlic. Set aside. Meanwhile, separate 1 egg, reserving white.

4. Dredge Chicken

Pour flour onto a large plate. Season with ¼ teaspoon kosher salt and pepper as desired. In a large shallow bowl, whisk together mustard powder and 1 egg white. Pour breadcrumbs onto a separate large plate. Season chicken all over with ¼ teaspoon kosher salt and pepper as desired. Dredge in flour mixture, shaking off excess. Dredge in egg mixture, allowing excess to drip off. Dredge in breadcrumbs, pressing to adhere.

5. Fry Chicken Katsu

Wipe pan from greens clean and add 1 tablespoon canola oil over medium heat (see Recipe Tip). When oil is shimmering, add chicken and fry until browned on outside and cooked through, 3-4 minutes per side. Transfer to a paper towel-lined plate to drain.

6. Plate Chicken Katsu

Wipe pan from chicken clean and add sautéed greens over medium heat. Reheat, stirring, until warmed through, about 1 minute. Serve alongside chicken katsu with wasabi aioli for dipping.
