White Cheddar Cheeseburgers

with Onion Rings and Smoked Paprika Ketchup

The secret to golden, crispy onion rings? Hint: It's got nothing to do with the fryer. Tonight, we swap the usual heavy dredge and deep fry for a light egg white and panko coating, then bake the onion rings to crunchy perfection. Ketchup for dipping is a must—a little smoked paprika adds some warmth here. Classic cheeseburgers get an upgrade with white Cheddar and complete this diner-inspired dinner.

- kosher salt
- black pepper
- baking sheet
- 10" medium pan with lid
- aluminum foil

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

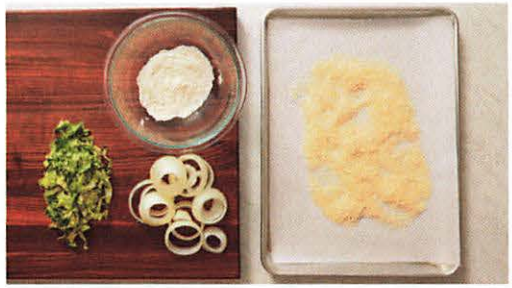

Onions release their juices when cut. Pat the onion rings dry before dredging so the flour coats them evenly.

Panko gives the onion rings a light coating that becomes extra crispy when baked. Don't worry if they're not thoroughly covered in the breadcrumbs; they'll still taste delicious.

USDA recommends cooking ground beef to 160°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 450°F. Halve little gem lengthwise and rinse thoroughly; thinly slice leaves crosswise, discarding tough stem. Peel onions and slice crosswise into ½-inch rings, separating layers, then pat dry with paper towel (see recipe tip). In a medium bowl, stir together flour, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper. Line a baking sheet with parchment paper; add panko and ¼ teaspoon salt, toss to combine, and spread in an even layer.

2. Dredge onion rings

Separate 2 eggs, placing whites in a separate medium bowl. Discard yolks or save for tomorrow's breakfast. Add 2 tablespoons water to bowl with egg whites; whisk until foamy, 2 minutes. Working in batches, dredge onion rings in flour, shaking off excess. Dip in egg whites, allowing excess to drip off. Add onion rings to sheet with panko and, using tongs or a fork, gently turn to coat (see recipe tip). Arrange in a single layer.

3. Bake onion rings and form burgers

Bake onion rings until golden brown, 16–18 minutes. Meanwhile, wipe bowl from flour clean. Pat beef dry with paper towel and add to bowl. Season with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Using your hands, mix well, then form into 2 equal patties, about 1 inch thick. Using your thumb, create a dimple on top of each (this helps them cook evenly and keep their shape).

4. Cook cheeseburgers

Heat 1 teaspoon olive oil in a medium pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add burgers and sear until browned on bottom, 4 minutes. Then, flip burgers, top with white Cheddar, and cover pan; continue cooking until cheese is melted and burgers are medium rare, 3–4 minutes more. Remove pan from heat. Transfer burgers to a plate, loosely cover with foil, and set aside to rest, at least 5 minutes.

5. Toast buns and dress salad

Once baked, divide onion rings between plates; discard parchment paper from sheet. Slice buns open horizontally, if they arrived whole. Arrange cut-side down on sheet and bake until toasted and light golden, 2–3 minutes. Meanwhile, in a separate medium bowl, whisk together Dijon mustard, 1 tablespoon olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Add little gem and toss to coat.

6. Plate cheeseburgers

In a small bowl, stir together ketchup and smoked paprika to combine. Add buns to plates with onion rings and top with white Cheddar cheeseburgers and a handful of salad. Finish with bun tops. Serve with smoked paprika ketchup for dipping. Dig in!
