Blackened Cod

with Garlic Aioli and Corn Salsa

This speedy recipe is back for another summer-perfect performance. The pan-searing technique called blackening was first invented by a prominent New Orleans chef to infuse fast-cooking fish with big Cajun flavors. Our spicy-sweet spice blend includes thyme, garlic, paprika, onion powder, cayenne—all balanced by a corn, tomato, and avocado salsa and a dollop of creamy aioli.

- 10" medium nonstick pan

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

Need a trick for removing whole corn kernels from the cob? Lay each cob flat on your cutting board and carefully slice kernels off 1 side. Rotate cob and continue slicing to remove kernels on all sides.

Blackening the fish doesn't mean you're about to burn your dinner. The generous spice rub takes on the char here, creating a delicious crust while the fish stays perfectly tender.

USDA recommends cooking fish to 145°F.

1. Season cod

Pat cod dry with paper towel and season all over with blackening spice mix and ½ teaspoon salt, pressing to adhere. Set aside to marinate at room temperature for about 10 minutes.

2. Prepare ingredients

While cod marinates, rinse tomato and roughly chop. Shuck corn, discarding husks and silk; slice off kernels into a large bowl, discarding cobs (see recipe tip). Halve lemon. Mince garlic.

3. Cook corn

Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a medium nonstick pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add corn and cook, stirring frequently, until charred in spots, about 5 minutes. Return cooked corn to large bowl and set aside. Rinse pan and wipe pan clean for the next step.

4. Blacken cod

Return pan from corn to medium-high heat with 1 tablespoon olive oil. When oil is shimmering, add cod to pan and sear until spices are blackened and a thin knife inserted into the fish meets no resistance, 2–3 minutes per side (see recipe tip). Transfer blackened cod to serving plates.

5. Make garlic aioli

In a small bowl, whisk together mayonnaise, garlic, up to half of cayenne (use more or less depending on your spice preferences), and juice of ½ lemon to combine. Season with ⅛ teaspoon salt and black pepper as desired. Halve avocado and discard pit; using a spoon, carefully scoop out flesh, discarding skin. Cut into ½-inch dice.

6. Finish salsa and plate

To bowl with corn, add tomato, avocado, juice of remaining lemon, 1 teaspoon olive oil, ½ teaspoon salt, and black pepper as desired; stir to combine. Serve blackened cod with corn salsa, drizzle over garlic aioli, and dig in!
