

Italian Burgers with Fresh Mozzarella and Tomato-Corn Salad

Total Time: 30-40 minutes Calories per Serving: 650

Serves: 2 people

A great summer meal is characterized by ease. It doesn't get much better than an Italian burger topped with fresh mozzarella.

Want wine with that? Italian Valpolicella is light but flavorful—a great match for grilled burgers. Read more here: plated.com/wine

USDA recommends cooking beef to 160° F.

1. Prepare Ingredients

Rinse all produce. Roughly chop parsley and oregano, discarding stems. Mince garlic. Roughly chop basil leaves, discarding stems. Halve mozzarella; cut ½ into 2 even slices and roughly chop remainder. Thinly slice 1 tomato and roughly chop remainder. Shuck corn, discarding husks and silk. Slice off kernels into a medium bowl, discarding cob.

2. Make Burgers

Preheat grill or grill pan to medium high. Pat beef dry with paper towel and transfer to a large bowl. Add mustard, pecorino, parsley, oregano, garlic, ½ teaspoon kosher salt, and pepper. Using your hands, mix well. Divide mixture evenly and form into 2 patties, about 1-inch thick, then create a dimple on top of each with your thumb (see Recipe Tip).

3. Grill Burgers

Brush grill with ½ tablespoon olive oil. When grill is just smoking, add burgers and grill until charred on outside and medium rare, about 3-4 minutes per side. Top with sliced mozzarella, cover with grill lid or a large piece of foil, and continue grilling until cheese is melted, about 1 minute more. Remove and set aside to rest for 5 minutes.

4. Make Dressing

While burgers grill, whisk together balsamic vinegar, basil, and ½ tablespoon olive oil in a medium bowl.

5. Toss Salad

Add corn, chopped mozzarella, and chopped tomatoes to bowl with dressing and toss to combine. Taste and add salt and pepper as needed.

6. Plate Burgers

Halve buns lengthwise and add cut-side down to grill or grill pan. Toast until golden brown, 2-3 minutes. Divide bun bottoms evenly between 2 plates. Add burgers, then sliced tomatoes. Finish with bun tops and serve with salad alongside.
