Black Bean Burritos

with Pico de Gallo and Guacamole

In this recipe, flour tortillas are rolled around black beans, cabbage, and corn, along with Monterey Jack and homemade guacamole. For extra heat, we add Cholula hot sauce to the guac, ají amarillo paste (made from a spicy Peruvian chile) to the filling, and chopped jalapeño to a bright pico de gallo with tomato, cilantro, and onion. Feel free to adjust each to your preferences. Now, who's ready to roll?

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

When chopping spicy chiles, avoid touching the inside, and immediately wash your knife, cutting board, and hands afterward. Use remaining black beans, onion (not ¼ cup), and jalapeño in another recipe, like a big tray of nachos.

Use just enough filling that you can still comfortably roll up the tortillas. If you have any leftover filling, serve alongside or save for tomorrow's lunch.

1. Prepare ingredients

Drain and rinse black beans. Measure out 1 cup and place in a medium bowl. Rinse all produce. Cut tomatoes into ¼-inch dice. Pick cilantro leaves, discarding stems. Halve limes. Peel onion and cut into small dice to yield ¼ cup. Halve jalapeño lengthwise. Using a knife tip, discard seeds and stem, then finely chop up to half (see recipe tip).

2. Make burrito filling

To bowl with black beans, add cabbage, Monterey Jack, corn, ají amarillo paste (feel free to use less for milder flavor), and 1 tablespoon olive oil and stir to combine. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Set aside until Step 4.

3. Make guacamole

Halve avocado and discard pit; carefully scoop out flesh into a separate medium bowl, discarding skin. Add Cholula (skip or use half for less heat), juice of 1 lime, and half of diced onion. Using a fork, mash until smooth and combined. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired.

4. Assemble and cook burritos

Lay tortillas on a clean, dry surface and spread with half of guacamole, reserving remainder for serving. Add filling in a horizontal line over guacamole, leaving a 1-inch border on both ends (see recipe tip). Fold in sides, then roll up tightly away from you to seal. Arrange burritos seam-side down in a large pan over medium heat. Cover pan and cook until warmed through and lightly toasted, 6–8 minutes.

5. Make pico de gallo

While burritos cook, wipe bowl from filling clean. Add tomatoes, cilantro, chopped jalapeño (skip or use half for less heat), remaining chopped onion, and juice of remaining lime, and stir to combine. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Set aside until ready to serve.

6. Plate black bean burritos

Halve burritos crosswise on a diagonal and divide between serving plates. Serve with pico de gallo and remaining guacamole for dipping. Dig in!
