Korean Beef Burritos

with Kimchi Rice and Gochujang Aioli

Korea meets Mexico in this genius culinary mashup (and repeat favorite). We're browning beef with onion, sesame oil, and soy sauce, then piling it into flour tortillas with spinach, carrots, and tangy kimchi. More of that crunchy pickled cabbage can be stirred into a side of rice for extra zing. Make your gochujang-infused aioli as spicy as you like for dipping each and every bite.

1. Cook rice

Preheat oven to 425°F. In a small pot, combine rice, ¾ cup water, and ¼ teaspoon salt, and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir once, reduce heat to medium low, cover pot, and simmer until water is fully absorbed, 10–12 minutes. Remove pot from heat and let stand, still covered, for 10 minutes. Fluff rice with a fork, then cover again to keep warm until Step 5.

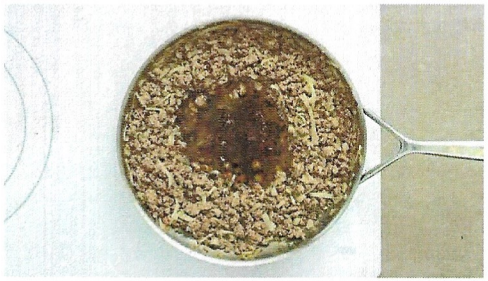

2. Prepare ingredients and make aioli

While rice cooks, rinse spinach and pat dry with paper towel. Peel onion, halve, and thinly slice. In a small bowl, stir together mayonnaise and 2 teaspoons gochujang (it's not very spicy, but feel free to use less if you prefer a milder flavor). Set gochujang aioli aside until ready to serve.

3. Brown beef

Pat beef dry with paper towel. Heat ½ tablespoon canola oil in a large pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add onion and sauté, stirring, until beginning to soften, about 3 minutes. Add beef to pan and season with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Cook, breaking up, until meat is browned and onion is very soft, about 5 minutes more.

4. Finish beef filling

Push beef and onion to outer edges of pan, still over medium-high heat. In center of pan, add sesame oil, soy sauce, brown sugar, and remaining gochujang. Cook, stirring sauce only, to dissolve sugar, 30 seconds. Add carrots and spinach and cook, stirring everything, until spinach is wilted and filling is fully coated with sauce, 1–2 minutes more. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt, then remove pan from heat.

5. Assemble burritos

Lay tortillas on a clean, dry surface. Place ¼ cup rice in a horizontal line on each tortilla, leaving a 1-inch border on both ends, and reserve remaining rice in covered pot for serving. Using a slotted spoon, add filling on top of rice (see recipe tip), then top each with ¼ cup kimchi, leaving a 1-inch border. Fold in sides, then roll up tightly away from you to seal.

6. Finish and plate burritos

Arrange burritos seam-side down on a baking sheet. Bake to warm through and lightly toast, 8–10 minutes. Meanwhile, stir remaining kimchi into pot with remaining rice, if desired, or enjoy each separately. Once toasted, halve Korean beef burritos on a diagonal and serve with kimchi rice and gochujang aioli for dipping. Dig in!
