

Crispy Calamari

with Greens and Miso Vinaigrette

If you're like most of us, you love calamari, but rarely (if ever) cook it. Luckily, this technique is a total breeze and ensures terrific results. The calamari is coated in a simple mixture of rice flour, salt, and pepper, then fried to prime crunchiness. Served over a crisp lettuce, cabbage, and carrot salad with miso vinaigrette, this dish will make you a regular calamari cook.

Plated.

Ingredients

10 ounces calamari
2 tablespoons peanuts
½ cup rice flour
5 ounces baby lettuces
2 packets honey, divided
1 tablespoon miso paste
2 tablespoons rice wine vinegar
1 teaspoon sesame oil
1 teaspoon sesame seeds
1 cup shredded carrots
½ cup shredded red cabbage

You'll Need

¾ cup + 1 tablespoon canola oil kosher salt
black pepper
large resealable plastic bag (optional)
12" large pan

Recipe Tips

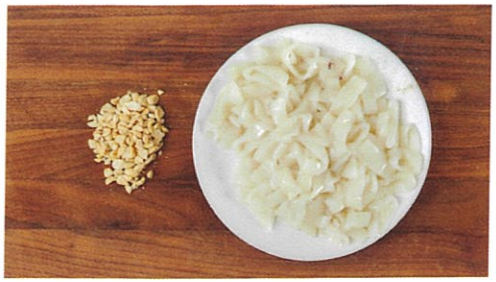

- Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

- If you received whole calamari tubes (without tentacles), be sure to pat very dry so they don't slip when you cut them using a sharp knife or scissors.

- Calamari tentacles may have slightly longer cook times than calamari rings.

- To test if the oil is hot enough, add a drop of rice flour. If it sizzles immediately, it's ready. It may take a few minutes to heat up. Lower the calamari into the pan carefully to avoid splatter and be sure to stand back. If you're working in batches, note that later batches may cook quicker than the first since the oil is already hot.

- USDA recommends cooking calamari to 145°F.

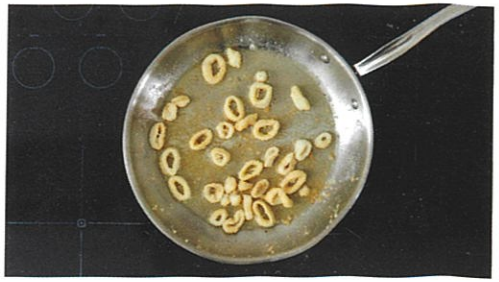

1. Prepare Ingredients

On a large plate, pat calamari rings and tentacles dry with paper towel. If needed, cut tubes crosswise into ½-inch rings (see Recipe Tip). Roughly chop peanuts.

2. Coat Calamari

In a large shallow bowl or resealable plastic bag, combine rice flour, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Add calamari rings and tentacles and turn to coat, then remove, shaking off excess.

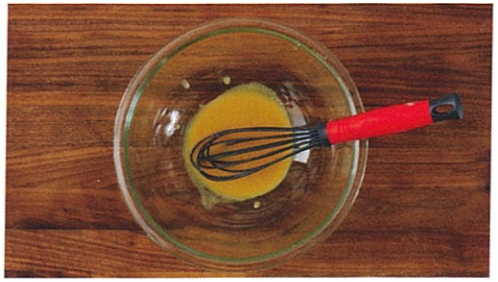

3. Fry Calamari

Heat ¾ cup canola oil in a large pan over medium heat (see Recipe Tip). When oil is shimmering, carefully add calamari rings and tentacles into pan in a single layer and fry, working in batches if necessary, until golden on outside and opaque, 2-3 minutes per side. Transfer to a paper towel-lined plate to drain.

4. Season Calamari

Drizzle 1 packet honey over fried calamari. Sprinkle lightly with salt.

5. Make Miso Vinaigrette

In a large bowl, whisk together miso paste, rice wine vinegar, and remaining packet honey. Whisking continuously, slowly add sesame oil and 1 tablespoon canola oil until fully combined. Stir in sesame seeds.

6. Plate Calamari

Add carrots, cabbage, crispy calamari, and baby lettuce to bowl with miso vinaigrette and toss to coat. Garnish with peanuts and dig into your impressive dinner.
