Crispy Chicken Sandwiches

with Lemon-Honey Aioli

Smoky and full of flavor, Old Bay seasoning was named after a passenger steamship line that ran through the Chesapeake Bay. Though the herb and spice mix was originally intended for steamed crab and shrimp, it has since become a pantry mainstay. In this repeat-hit recipe, we blend it into aioli, creating a creamy and zesty condiment for panko-crusted chicken sandwiched in brioche.

MEALS WORTH MAKING

Ingredients

- 4 ounces mixed lettuces
- 1 tomato
- 1 lemon
- 4 packets mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon Old Bay spice mix
- ½ ounce honey
- 2 boneless skinless chicken breasts
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 cup panko breadcrumbs
- 1 tablespoon white balsamic vinegar
- 2 brioche buns
- ½ cup sliced dill pickles

You'll need

- olive oil
- 1 egg
- kosher salt
- black pepper
- plastic wrap
- meat mallet (optional)
- 12" large nonstick pan

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking.

Since the inner flesh of the tomato holds a lot of moisture, you're removing the seeds here to keep the salad from turning soggy.

Use remaining lemon to brighten a glass of water.

The chicken might have a slight odor as a natural reaction to its vacuum packing. USDA recommends cooking chicken to 165°F.

1. Prepare ingredients

Rinse all produce. Pat mixed lettuces dry with paper towel. Thinly slice half of tomato for serving; scoop out and discard seeds of remainder, then thinly slice into strips (see recipe tip). Halve lemon. In a small bowl, whisk together mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon Old Bay seasoning, ½ packet honey, juice of ½ lemon, ⅛ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired to make aioli (see recipe tip).

2. Pound chicken

Pat chicken dry with paper towel and place between 2 large pieces plastic wrap. Using a meat mallet or heavy pan, pound to ¼-inch thickness. Try to pound the chicken as thinly and evenly as possible, but don't stress if it tears—it'll still look great once stacked in a sandwich.

3. Dredge chicken

On a large plate, combine flour, remaining Old Bay seasoning, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. In a large shallow bowl, whisk 1 egg. Place breadcrumbs on a separate large plate. Season chicken all over with ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Dredge chicken in Old Bay flour, shaking off excess. Dip in egg, allowing excess to drip off. Dredge in breadcrumbs, pressing to adhere.

4. Cook chicken

Heat 1½ tablespoons olive oil in a large nonstick pan over medium heat. When oil is shimmering, add chicken and sear until crust is browned and chicken is cooked through and no longer pink, 2–3 minutes per side. Transfer chicken to a paper towel–lined plate to drain. Remove pan from heat and wipe clean for the next step.

5. Toss salad and toast buns

In a large bowl, whisk together white balsamic vinegar, remaining honey, 2 tablespoons olive oil, ⅛ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Add lettuce and tomato strips to bowl with dressing and toss to coat. Slice buns open horizontally, if they arrived whole, and arrange cut-side down in pan from chicken over medium heat. Toast until light golden and warmed through, 3–4 minutes. Transfer to serving plates.

6. Plate chicken sandwiches

Cut each chicken breast in half, then stack and layer onto bun bottoms (everyone gets 2 pieces!). Drizzle over lemon-honey aioli, top with pickles and tomato slices, and finish with bun tops. Serve crispy chicken sandwiches with salad and dig in!
