No-Churn Pumpkin Ice Cream

with Cocoa Candied Pecans

Making homemade ice cream can be time-consuming. You need to freeze an expensive machine overnight before use, make a custard base over the stove, and allow that to chill completely before churning for a few hours, and then hardening in the freezer for another chunk of time. But we want ice cream now! This no-churn hack is a miracle worker, bringing together light, fluffy ice cream in a fraction of the time with minimal hassle.

1. Prepare tin

Reshape aluminum tin, if bent. Trim parchment paper to match size of tin, then set both aside, keeping separate.

2. Make ice cream base

In a large bowl, vigorously whisk heavy cream until thickened and stiff peaks form, about 3 minutes. Add condensed milk, vanilla extract, pumpkin pie spice, and ¼ cup pumpkin purée (see recipe tip) and continue whisking vigorously until ingredients are combined and mixture is thickened.

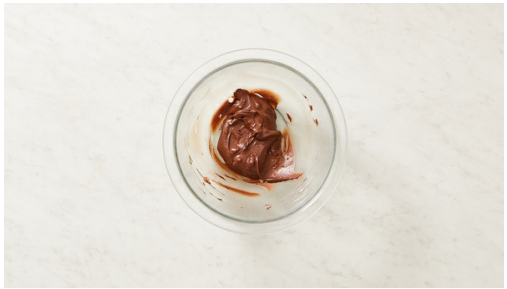

3. Freeze ice cream

Transfer ice cream base to tin and spread in an even layer. Place trimmed parchment on top of ice cream base, pressing to adhere. Transfer tin to a flat surface in freezer. Chill until ice cream is thick and custard-like, 45–60 minutes.

4. Make cocoa candied pecans

While ice cream chills, heat a medium nonstick pan over medium-high heat. Carefully hover your hand a few inches away from the pan—when you can easily feel heat, add pecans. Toast, stirring, until golden, 3 minutes. Add sugar and cook, stirring frequently, until sugar begins to melt and cling to pecans, 2–3 minutes more. Remove pan from heat and add cocoa powder, stirring vigorously to coat pecans. Transfer to a plate and spread in an even layer to cool.

5. Melt chocolate

Once ice cream has chilled, place chocolate chips in a medium heat-proof bowl and microwave in 30-second intervals until completely melted. Alternatively, create a double boiler: Bring 2 inches water to a boil in a medium pot over high heat. Place bowl with chocolate over pot and stir until chocolate is melted and smooth, 2–4 minutes.

6. Plate pumpkin ice cream

Remove and discard parchment from tin, then scoop no-churn pumpkin ice cream into serving bowls. Drizzle over melted chocolate, garnish with cocoa candied pecans, and dig in!
