Mushroom, Gruyère, and Leek Bread Pudding

with Arugula Salad

We'd happily order any sandwich served on a chewy pretzel bun, which is why we've made them the star of tonight's decadent bread pudding. The torn and toasted buns soak up the egg and milk mixture here. We fold in sautéed mushrooms and leeks, then top with nutty Gruyère. The real magic happens in the oven: edges get crisp, the center stays tender, and the cheese melts into every ridge and corner.

Recipe tips

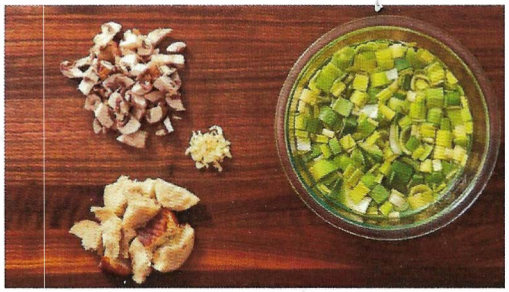

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

Do not drain leeks, or the dirt at the bottom will pour over them. Instead, use a slotted spoon or your hands to remove them from the water, then pat dry before adding them to the pan to avoid splattering.

Toasting the buns dries them out so they'll soak up more of the egg mixture and get those delicious crispy edges when baked.

1. Prepare ingredients

Preheat oven to 450°F. If leek arrived with dark green tops, trim and discard them. Halve leek lengthwise, then cut crosswise into ¼-inch pieces. Place in a large bowl of cold water, separating pieces, to let dirt sink to bottom. Wipe mushrooms clean with a damp paper towel and cut into ½-inch pieces. Rinse remaining produce. Mince garlic. Tear pretzel buns into 1-inch pieces.

2. Sauté vegetables

Remove leek from water (see recipe tip) and pat dry with paper towel; reserve bowl. Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a medium pan over medium-high heat. When oil is shimmering, add leek and mushrooms and sauté, stirring, until leek is tender and mushrooms are golden, 5–7 minutes. Add garlic and cook, stirring, until fragrant, 1 minute more. Season with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Remove pan from heat.

3. Toast pretzel buns

While vegetables sauté, on a baking sheet, arrange pretzel bun pieces in a single layer. Bake until toasted and light golden, 4–6 minutes (see recipe tip). Meanwhile, reshape aluminum tin, if bent.

4. Prepare bread pudding

Rinse bowl from leek and wipe clean, then add milk, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper and whisk to combine. Add sautéed vegetables and toasted pretzel buns to bowl with egg mixture and stir to coat. Place tin on baking sheet from buns (for easy transfer to the oven). Pour bread mixture into tin, gently pressing down into an even layer. Sprinkle over Gruyère.

5. Bake bread pudding

Bake bread pudding until cheese is golden and egg mixture is set, 12–14 minutes. Meanwhile, cut chives into ½-inch pieces. In a separate large bowl, whisk together white wine vinegar, half of honey, 1½ tablespoons olive oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper as desired. Pat arugula dry with paper towel and add to bowl with dressing, waiting to toss until ready to serve. Use remaining honey to sweeten a cup of tea.

6. Plate bread pudding

Divide mushroom, Gruyère, and leek bread pudding between serving plates. Toss arugula salad and serve alongside. Garnish bread pudding with chives and dig in!
