

Chocolate Peppermint Patties

Total Time: 35-45 minutes Calories per Serving: 410

Serves: 2 people

As any peppermint patty enthusiast knows, these are best enjoyed cold. Even though there's nothing wrong with getting covered in chocolate come dessert time (er, anytime), this recipe uses a bittersweet couverture variety for the coating—a high-quality type that doesn't melt onto your fingers.

1. Make Filling

Microwave butter in a medium heatproof bowl until melted, about 20 seconds; alternatively, heat in a small pot over medium heat, about 1 minute. Add powdered sugar, peppermint extract, and heavy cream and stir to combine. Transfer to a piece of plastic wrap and roll tightly into a log, about 1½-inch thick, twisting ends to seal well. Chill in freezer for at least 15 minutes.

2. Melt Chocolate

While filling chills, wipe bowl from filling clean, add chocolate, and microwave in 30-second intervals until melted. Alternatively, create a double boiler: Bring 2-inches water to a boil in a medium pot over high heat. Place bowl with chocolate over pot without touching water and stir until chocolate is melted and smooth, 2-4 minutes (see Recipe Tip).

3. Coat Patties

Remove filling from freezer, discard plastic wrap, then cut into ½-inch slices. Using a fork, dip 1 patty into melted chocolate, allowing excess to drip off. Transfer to a foil-lined baking sheet. Repeat with remaining patties and chocolate. Chill in refrigerator for at least 5 minutes.

4. Plate Patties

Using a fork, carefully remove patties from baking sheet and serve chilled.

To create the double broiler, be sure to use a heatproof bowl that fits over the pot of boiling water without touching the water. You want to create a seal between the bowl and the pot to trap the steam produced. This gentle melting technique prevents the chocolate from sticking and burning.
