Cinnamon Sugar Churros

with Mexican Chocolate Sauce

Tonight, we're bringing back our popular technique for making churros, the Spanish specialty involving thin strips of crispy, buttery dough coated in cinnamon and sugar. You'll get a chance to practice your deep-frying skills —plus, we're sending a pastry bag for piping the batter. These melt-in-your-mouth morsels are paired with a rich chocolate sauce spiced with cayenne pepper for a Mexican flair.

MEALS WORTH MAKING

Ingredients

- 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1 half stick unsalted butter
- ½ cup flour
- ¾ cup semisweet chocolate chips
- ¼ teaspoon ground cayenne pepper
- 4 ounces heavy cream
- 1 pastry bag

You'll need

- canola oil
- 1 egg
- kosher salt
- 8" medium pot
- 6" small pot

Recipe tips

Be sure to read through the entire recipe before you begin cooking. Trust us—you'll be glad you did!

Have a kitchen thermometer on hand? The temperature of the oil should register 375°F.

Be sure to work slowly and carefully when dealing with hot oil. Stand back from the pot and prevent splatter by adding the batter as gently as possible. Your patience will be rewarded with perfectly crisp, golden brown churros!

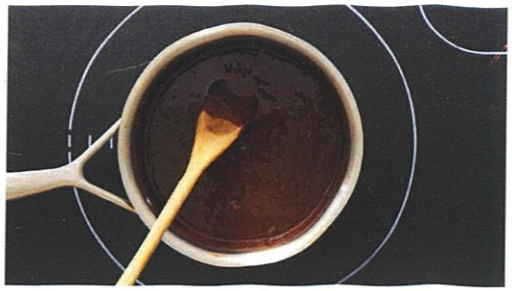

1. Prepare ingredients

In a small bowl, reserve ¼ teaspoon cinnamon for Step 3 and set aside. In a medium bowl, stir together sugar and remaining cinnamon to combine. In a large bowl, whisk 1 egg. Line a plate with paper towels and set aside for Step 5. Place pastry bag inside a drinking glass, folding top of bag over edges of glass (this will make it easier to fill the pastry bag with batter in the next step).

2. Make batter

In a medium pot, heat enough canola oil to reach 1 inch up sides of pot over medium-high heat. In a small pot, combine butter, ½ cup water, and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil over high heat, then remove pot from heat and stir in flour to form a ball. Transfer to bowl with egg, reserving pot. Stir batter to combine, transfer to pastry bag, and twist top of bag to close. Cut 2 inches off bottom of bag. Set aside for Step 4.

3. Make chocolate sauce

Rinse and wipe pot from batter clean and very dry, then add chocolate chips, cayenne pepper (skip or use half for less heat), heavy cream, and reserved ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and place over medium heat. Cook, stirring frequently to prevent burning, until chocolate is melted and mixture is fully combined, 3–5 minutes. Remove from heat and set aside for serving.

4. Fry churros

Squeeze a small amount of batter into pot with oil. If it sizzles immediately, keep going; if not, try again once oil is hotter (see recipe tip). Working carefully (the oil is very hot!), squeeze batter directly into oil in straight lines, about 6 inches long (see recipe tip). Use a knife or scissors to help separate strips of batter from bag into oil. Fry churros, turning frequently and working in batches as needed, until golden brown, 3–4 minutes.

5. Finish churros

Once cooked, use a slotted spoon to carefully transfer churros to paper towel–lined plate to drain. Then, add churros to bowl with cinnamon sugar and, using a spoon (the churros will still be hot!), gently toss to thoroughly coat.

6. Plate cinnamon sugar churros

Transfer cinnamon sugar churros to serving plates, along with Mexican chocolate sauce for dipping or drizzling. Enjoy!
