Recipe Tips

No microwave? No problem! Melt butter in a small pot over low heat, stirring occasionally. Once melted, add to a medium heat-safe bowl.

1. Grease Tin

Preheat oven to 350°F. Place butter in a medium heat-safe bowl and microwave in 30-second intervals until completely melted (see Recipe Tip). Drizzle 1 teaspoon melted butter inside aluminum tin, reshaping if bent, and rub all over to coat tin.

2. Make Crust

Add 1 cup flour, ½ cup granulated sugar, and ¼ teaspoon salt to bowl with melted butter and stir to combine, making sure all ingredients are incorporated and saving remaining flour and sugar for Step 3. Spoon dough into greased tin, pressing into an even layer on the bottom. Using a fork, lightly pierce each corner of the dough. Place tin on a baking sheet and bake until lightly golden, about 12 minutes.

3. Make Lemon Filling and Fill Crust

While crust bakes, in a large bowl, whisk remaining flour and remaining granulated sugar to combine. Whisk in lemon juice and 3 eggs until fully combined, about 1 minute. Once crust is baked, keep tin on baking sheet, and pour lemon filling on top.

4. Bake Bars

Return baking sheet to oven and bake lemon bars until filling has thickened and doesn't jiggle, 20-22 minutes. While bars bake, get a head start on cleaning! Once baked, remove lemon bars from oven and allow to cool until set, 10 minutes. Place in the freezer to chill until firm, 20-30 minutes.

5. Plate Lemon Bars

Dust cooled lemon bars with powdered sugar (try putting the powdered sugar in a sieve and lightly tapping the side to evenly dust the bars). Cut into 6 pieces and enjoy!
